

U.S.-Soviet grain treaty announced

WASHINGTON (AP) — New grain sales to the Soviet Union are expected to begin soon following the announcement of long-term U.S.-Russian pacts covering the sale of U.S. grain and the purchase of Soviet oil, a senior Agriculture Department official said today.

Asst. Secretary Richard E. Bell told a news conference representatives of U.S. grain firms are in Russia at the present time. He said they have "been going in and out of Moscow" for several weeks. Bell did not identify the firms.

As the embargo on U.S. grain sales to the Soviet Union was lifted Monday, Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said as much as 7 million more metric tons might be sold to the Soviets this year. The new, long-term agreement, a separate matter, does not take effect until Oct. 1, 1976.

Bell, who participated in grain sales negotiations in Moscow that led to the new agreement, said Russia probably will need to import about 30 million tons of grain from all sources in 1975-76. He estimated that between 23 million and 24 million tons of that grain already have been bought.

However, Hyde Murray, counsel to the House Agriculture Committee, said the Soviet grain crop is so poor this year it could bring a political upheaval.

"This is the worst year for Russia since 1963 and it carries in it the seeds of events uncharted and dangers unimagined," Murray told a regional meeting of the Agricultural and Stabilization Service in Madison, Wis.

Murray said the 1963 grain shortage in the Soviet Union brought on food riots and was the main factor that toppled Premier Nikita Khrushchev from power. "The Russian system is being severely tested," he said. "I think it is a dangerous thing. When they have trouble like that at home, you don't know what will happen."

The two-month old embargo was imposed by President Ford last summer after the Soviets purchased 9.8 million tons of grain from American exporters. The embargo stemmed from concern over the impact of the sales on U.S. prices and some nervousness that predictions of bumper U.S. crops this year might not materialize.

Including the July sales and about 500,000 tons sold last winter, the Soviets have bought 10.3 million tons of U.S. grain this season, less than one-half of Bell's estimate that up to 24 million tons have been purchased so far. He said that most, if not all, of the remaining 6 million to 7 millions tons still required would come from the United States.

Bell said it was his personal view that Russian grain crops have suffered more extensively than U.S. officials have indicated and that total Soviet production this year may not be more than 160 million tons.

Mallory praises U.S. education

America is the best educated society in the history of the world, Arthur Mallory, commissioner of the Missouri State Department of Elementary and Secondary Education, told several hundred people at a Bicentennial rally Sunday at Malone Park.

Mallory noted that in 1900 only four per cent of the nation's population graduated from high school. This figure increased to 40 per cent in 1940 and in 1975 it had grown to 80 per cent.

He said that the United States had become concerned about falling below other countries in international testing in previous years, so this year only the top 20 per cent of the students in the United States were entered in the competition. The U.S. walked away with the top ratings, he said.

He said the American concept of providing an education for all people is unique in the world.

He said Americans must have pride in the quality of their labors, they must have responsibility to others and must have compassion and

Jones charged after shooting

Robert Jones, 81, of 1302 Maude St. was charged Monday displaying a dangerous and deadly weapon in the shooting of Freddie Smith, 18, during a scuffle early Sunday outside Nelson's Cafe on Osage Street.

Police said Smith suffered a minor gunshot wound on the head about 12:39 a.m. Sunday and taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital, where he was treated and released Monday.

Jones told police that Smith and another older man were scuffling in the cafe and that Smith knocked the other man to the floor. Jones said he tried to break up the fight and they went outside, where Smith came after him. Jones said he then fired a shot into the air and the bullet knicked the youth.

Smith said Jones shot him without warning.

5 thefts reported

Two men grabbed a handbag from a woman Saturday night outside the Wagon Wheel tavern, 841 W. Malone Ave., police said today.

Four other thefts were reported today by police, including meat from a freezer, a citizens band radio, a stereo and a quantity of beer.

Two men reportedly jumped Mary Eagle of New Douglas, Ill., as she walked up to the Wagon Wheel tavern, about 8:20 p.m. Saturday , grabbed her purse from her and ran.

The purse contained $40 in cash, seven U.S. Savings Bonds valued at $19.75 each, credit cards and personal papers.

Cullen Polley, 309 Jaycee St., told police that someone took about $60 worth of meat from a freezer in his utility room between Friday and Sunday.

Taken were half a shank of ham, five pounds of smoked ham and six packages of steaks.

A citizens band radio belonging to Edward Pike Jr., 1110 Ruth St., was taken from his pickup truck sometime Friday or Saturday night while the truck was parked at his home. The radio was worth $160.

A stereo record player and two speakers valued at $130 were taken from the Elizabeth York home, 234 Harry St., about 8:30 p.m. Sunday. Entry was gained by prying open the front door.

Seven cases and two quart bottles of beer were taken between 6:30 and 10:30 p.m. Sunday from Bess Supply Co., Highway 61 South.

Crash kills Dorena man

A Dorena man was killed, three persons were seriously injured and five received minor injuries in six area traffic accidents which occurred between Saturday night and this morning, the highway patrol announced today. The fatality was the 92nd on Southeast Missouri roads this year, the same number on the same date last year.

Condra Caldwell, 77, a retired farmer, was killed in a single-vehicle accident at 10 p.m. Sunday one and a half miles south of Dorena at the junction of Highway 77 and Route A.

The highway patrol said Caldwell was driving a pickup truck south when he failed to stop for a stop sign at a T-intersection and the truck ran across Route A and struck a dirt embankment.

Caldwell was pronounced at the scene. His body was taken to Sparks Funeral Home in Charleston, where funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Caldwell was born Feb. 16, 1901 in Tiptonville, Tenn., and had lived in Mississippi County since 1942.

On Sept. 23, 1923, he married Ruby Smith, who survives.

He was employed by Wendell Choate on the Choate Farms in Dorena for a number of years.

He is also survived by six sons, June Caldwell and Robert Caldwell of Dorena, Wilmor Caldwell of Union City, Tenn., Norman and James Caldwell of Fort Wayne, Ind., and Roy Caldwell of the home; four daughters, Mrs. Annie Robinson of Chicago, Mrs. Irene King and Mrs. Forsie Thomas of Union City and Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson of Warren, Ohio; one brother, Ivie Caldwell of Hickman, Ky.; one sister, Mrs.

For home rehabilitation

Council accepts grant

The City Council Monday afternoon accepted a $60,000 federal community development grant for rehabilitation of substandard homes and established guidelines for administering the program.

The council also received bids for the cleaning of the Matthews-Schuerenberg ditch and accepted a low bid for new traffic signs.

Federal grant

The council decided that the grant program will be administered by the Sikeston Housing Authority because of the authority's familiarity with Department of Housing and Urban Development regulations and with the people who most need the funds.

The program is designed to make low-cost loans to rehabilitate substandard owner-occupied homes, with priority given to the elderly.

City Manager Charles Church said the program is not a give-away and that the recipients of the loan will have to meet strict requirements.

The rehabilitation loan may not be for a higher amount than the value of the house, Church said.

Church estimates the city will be able to rehabilitate 30 homes with the grant. Application for another grant will be soon for next year, Church said.

Ditch bids

Four bids were received and taken under advisement for the cleaning of the Matthews-Schuerenberg ditch which runs from Ables Road to the St. John's Drainage Ditch. The ditch serves to drain the Pam Street area of Sikeston.

Bids submitted included: John Teichman of Sikeston, $16,500; Ernest Construction of Morehouse, $24,500; Orell Harris of Sikeston, $15,990; and Williams Construction Co. of Mayfield, Ky., $16,224.

Bids were rejected at the Oct.

Tanner bond $50,000

MCLEANSBORO, Ill. (AP) — A Missouri man wanted in a series of violent crimes during a six-day, three-state spree was held Tuesday in the Hamilton County jail on $50,000 bond.

Virgil Tanner, 22, Caruthersville, Mo., appeared in Circuit Court Monday for arraignment on two counts of armed robbery. He is accused of stealing an automobile at gunpoint from a rural Hamilton County couple Friday night.

Also arraigned on the charges was Tanner's 14-year-old nephew, also of Caruthersville.

The boy has been returned to a juvenile detention center in Edwardsville, near St. Louis.

Sheriff's deputies arrested Tanner in a vacant home near the town of Macedonia on Saturday, ending a series of escapades which authorities said began Oct. 13 in Missouri with an armed robbery and a car theft.

Tanner and the youth are also wanted for kidnapping and armed robbery in Sedan, Kan., and for questioning in connection with the rapes of two Nevada, Mo., teen-agers, authorities said.

The fugitives arrived in Macedonia sometime Thursday night, authorities believe. They are accused of shooting out the windows of Tanner's wife's car at her home outside the hamlet. She was in hiding, fearful of being kidnaped, according to authorities.

Sheriff Charles Browning said the pair offered no resistence upon arrest. Found with them, Browning said, were several knives, pistols, rifles, a shotgun and about 1,000 rounds of ammunition.

Turner resignation accepted

DEXTER — The Resignation of police officer Gene Turner was accepted Monday night by the City Council, effective Oct. 15. No reason was given for the resignation.

Alex E. Boothe, 1012 West St. Francis St. was hired to take Turner's place at the recommendation of Mayor Willis Conner. Boothe will start work on Nov. 1.

Boothe is a former ambulance driver, officer on the Southeast Missouri University at Cape Girardeau Campus Police and a seargent in the Sikeston Police department.

Conner announced that J. D. Trotter, 411 Houston St. will quit as crossing guard at Grant street and One-Mile road after this week.

No replacement was hired Monday night, but Conners said that school officials will work with the city in finding another guard.

"It should be a joint effort between the city and the school," he said. "The city can't take all the responsibility".

Trotter has served as guard at the crossing since school started this year.

Does government subvert our freedom through the Sovial Security system which guards our people against destitution when they are too old to work? Doest government undermine our freedom by bringing electricity to the farm,by controlling floods, or by ending bank failures? Is freedom lessened by efforts to abate pollution in our streams, by efforts to gain knowledge of the causes of heart disease and cancer, or by efforts to strengthen competition and the free market? Is freedom really diminished by banning the sale of harmful drugs, by providing school lunches for our children, by preserving our wilderness areas, or by improving the safety of our airways? Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas insists that he will not retire, despite the crippling stroke he suffered last New Year's eve. Douglas recently made only his second courtroom appearance since the stroke and observers at Yakima, Wash., were shocked. As the New York Times reported: "After he had heard lawyers for both sides, Mr. Douglas sat motionless for 10 minutes without speaking, staring at a piece of paper, while spectators exchanged anxious glances ... At one point in the proceedings, Mr. Douglas seemed confused about the time, announcing there would be a lunch recess at 12:30 p.m. It was pointed out to him that the time was already about 1 p.m."

That was only one of the delays we had that day. We had an appointment with our eye doctor which we thought was for 12 o'clock. But we found out it was 3. It said so plainly on our card, but we read it wrong. So, for an hour we sat in the busy office waiting for our name to be called. And it was, promptly at 3 o'clock. The doctor said, "your eyes are good enough you can pass a driver's test without trouble." In spite of his assurance, we know very well we don't see like we once did."

THY NEIGHBOR'S ASPIDISTRA

We are, on the one hand, prepared to render the sternest and most unforgiving of judgments on those persons of whom we have been reading lately who are given to stealing other people's potted plants. But, on the other hand, we find it impossible to believe that anyone who is a regular reader of this space could steal another persons' potted plant.

On the theory that it is barely possible that one or another of the readers of this page might once have met someone who had a cousin whose brother-in-law knew a fellow who was married to a person with Dieffenbachia-envy, we will state the obvious and hope it trickles down: Floraheist is one of the lowest and meanest forms of larceny. It is, not only wrong but stupid. To put it another way, leave your neighbor's Nidularium alone. Take your hands off his Platycerium bifurcatum. Grow your own Saxifraga sarmentosa, if you're so smart. For to make off with someone else's Sansevieria trifasciata laurentiii is not just to deprive that person of an object to which he or she has undoubtedly become attached, it is also to misunderstand the whole point of potted-plantery as it has developed in our time. The point is to have the satisfaction of making something grew, of watching it beat the urban odds, of learning to love it-each and every mysteriously splotched and hopelessly puny leaf.

Thus, potted-plant theft is self-defeating. There are some things you can't steal, not because they are chained down, but because they aren't transferrable—and among them is the reward of growing a green plant.

At the risk of sounding...well...permissive, we would compromise just this much: If you should by any remote chance know a person or two who might be tempted to this miserable crime, tell them, for God's sake, not to take the plant, but merely to take a cutting, provided of course that the coveted object is not a single-stalked palm tree. Or better yet, tell them to seek permission to take a small cutting.

THE CARDIAC CANDIDATE: ARE YOU ONE..

II

Take a closer look at your liestyle. Is it turning you into a prime candidate for heart attack or stroke..

Dr. Elliot Rapaport, president of the Ameican Hart Associatio, says that themore than 880,000 deaths each year from two of the nation's major killers - heart attack and stroke - re proof that "too many Americans are doing toolittle to safeguard their hearts."

He points out that scientists havepinned down certain "risk factors" + conditions taht lead to heart disease.

"By modifying someo f these risk facors, and minimizing the danger of those we can't change," he says, "our chances ofliving longer, heart- healthy lives are geatly increased."

Dr. Rapaport cites certain risk factors which can't be avoided - heredity, sex, age and race:

"We've found that a tendency toward certain heart diseases can be inherited. If a parent or grand parent suffeed from heart attackor stroke, there's a greater chance that you may also suffer from that disease. Some heart diseases do affect ne sex more than another, and vulnerability increes with age. Your race is also a factor. For example, black Americans sufer a higher incidence of high blood pressure than white Americans."

But the Heart Association physician points out that there are risk factors that can be avoided:

"The three major ones are high blood pressure - which can be kept at a safe level through effective drug and diet therapy; a high cholesterol level - which you can help lower through proper diet; and cigarete smoking - which can be eliminated altogether."

Another risk factor is obedity. And this, too, can be controlled.

"We're a nation of overeaters and television athletes," he says."If we'd spend less time in front of the TV set and the dinnertable, and more time walking and performing other moderae daily exercise, we'd live longer, heart- healthy lives."

Dr. Rapaport offers a simple rule for heart- healthy eating: Stick to foods low in saturated fats and cholesterol, such as fish (except shellfish) and poultry and whole grain products, skim milk and its by-products. Limit egg yolks to no more than three per week. Avoid excessive amounts of whole milk products, beef, pork and veal, which are high in saturated fats and cholesterol.

But when it comes toexercise, he cautions:

"Before you start any exercise program or undertake a strenuous activity, see your doctor. He's the only one who can decide what's best for you. Exercise - it's a good ting, if you don't overdo it."

What it all boils down it, Dr. Rapaport says, is this: "Life is filled with risks. But when it comes to heart attack and stroke, you must consider risk factors. By taking a hard look at your lifestyle, and making it more heart- healthy, you can eliminate or reduc your chances of heart attack or stroke."

LET OUR CHILDREN PRAY

Two moves to restore a sense of reverence into the eleementary school system were reported this week as we write. At Concord, N.H., Governor Meldrim Thomson is expected to sign a bill that would permit the voluntary recitation of the Lord's Prayer in public elementary schools at the option of local school districts. And a Connecticut buill, which would provide for an optional period of silent meditation at the beginning of the school day has been approved by Fovernor Ella Grasso who has promised to sign it.

We wonder what children of elementary school age will make of silent meditation, since it is almost impossible for adults to concentrate upon the deity without some aids to prayer but, if some direction is given beforehand and some material evidence of what has been achieved is expected afterwards, the silent period could be very productive, for children, even more than adults, can live in the world of the mind.

We nearly wrote, "the world of imagination" but thought that phrase might be misunderstood. However, in explanation, we would like to quote G.B. Shaw's play, St. Joan, where Joan explains the source of her confidence to Robert, The French captain. "I hear voices," says Joan, "They come from God." "Garn," says Robert, says Robert, "they come from your imagination." "That's how God speaks to me," says Joan, "through my imagination." This might be over-simplification for the trained theologian, but at least it is practical explanation for the common man.

In an earlier reference to the absence of prayers in schools—an absence which, in a professedly enlightened nation appals us—we conceded that in a nation so multi-racial as the United States, and therefore so multi-religionist, it could be considered by minority religions an impingement upon their religious freedom to have their children compelled to receive specificially Christian, and more especially denominational instruction. Nevertheless, is it unreasonable to expect that people enjoying the benefits of laws and moral standards based upon the Christian faith, will acknowledge the source from which these blessings flow?

And the Source, we are pleased to say, does not coerce faith. We have a Father God who hides Himself, and the Jesus who claimed "He that hath seen Me hath seen the Father" is broadminded enough to say of some "who walked not with Him" but who performed miracles in His name, that "he who is not against us is for our part."

That is why it does not contravene anyone's religiious beliefs, even of those of deep-rooted ancestral faith, to pray the Lord's Prayer which Jesus taught His disciples. At no point does it enter into those specifics which could become a subject for religious controversy. Parents of the children at Concord, N.H., need have no fear that their offspring will be indoctrinated or, to use a modern term, "brain-washed."

The only people likely to object are the so-called atheists. Even here can they honestly object to the use of "Our Father" for the "Prime Mover of the Universe"? Do not they themselves act as if the universe is friendly? Will they not in argument even claim to be part of that "Primal Existence" we call God?

We can understand if, in their philosophical naivety, they fall into the error of pantheism and thus in effect thus call themselves "god." We will be content if, as a start, they will acknowledge their minuteness in comparison with the "Primal Being"; if, in fact, they will be humble enough to begin exploriring the infinite beauty and truth of Him we call God and who is the genesis of that science which they think they inventef themselves.

Such humility is the beginning of education.

THE COMEBACK TRAIL

WASHINGTON — The New Nixon was sitting on the porch of La Casa Pacifica at San Clemente slumped in his chair staring out at the sea. The Old Nixon carrying a golf bag came out jauntily whistling "Hail to the Chief."

"Where are you going?" the New Nixon asked bitterly.

"I'm going to play golf with the Teamsters at La Costa," the Old Nixon said. "What a day."

"How can you play golf after what we've been through?" the New Nixon asked.

"Cheer up, Dicky boy," the Old Nixon said. "We're on the comeback trail. Look at this. We're on the cover of Newsweek magazine. Did you ever dream we'd ever make the cover of Newsweek again?"

The New Nixon shook his head. "I don't get it. You never give up, do you?"

The Old Nixon said, "You're damn right I never give up. They had me counted out after the presidential election in 1960. They said I couldn't get elected dogcatcher after I lost for governor in 1962. But I fooled them, Dicky, and I'm going to fool them again. They haven't heard the last of Richard Milhaus Nixon."

"I wouldn't believe it if I didn't see it with my own eyes," the New Nixon said.

"Wait until our book comes out," the Old Nixon said. "Just wait until they hear our side of the story. There will be more than Teamsters wanting to play golf with me then."

"Richard," said the New Nixon, "do you really think we can make a comeback? Or are you just saying that to make me feel better?"

"It's in the cards, Dicky. After my interviews with David Frost, the American people are going to see that all we were trying to do was protect the Presidency of the United States. Oh, there will be some who will say we lied and we cheated and we brought disgrace on the office. But we won't hate them for saying that."

"We won't?" the New Nixon said.

"No," replied the Old Nixon, "but we'll keep their names on file cards and someday when we're back in power they're going to be sorry they ever made an issue of Watergate."

"What are we going to say about Watergate in our book?"

"It was a mistake, and we should have taken more of an interest in what our staff was doing. They let us down. But we're not going to blame them. We're taking full responsibility for their actions, no matter how contemptible they were and no matter how much we disapproved of the illegal manner in which they carried out our orders. As President it was our job to see that they did not violate the trust we had given them, in spite of all the other things we had on our mind during that momentous period in American history."

"I think Peoria will buy it," the New Nixon said.

"It will just be a matter of time, Dicky, before we're on top again," the Old Nixon said. "We'll take atrip to China, then to the Soviet Union and then to the Middle East. They love us over there, not like the creeps in this country who always had it in for us."

The New Nixon was suddenly coming out of his lethargy.

"You know, you might just possibly swing it," he said. "Six months ago I wouldn't have given 18½ minutes of tape for our chances of making a comeback. But now with the book and the TV and the Teamsters I'm starting to feel like a new man."

The Old Nixon slapped him on the back. "Atta boy, Dicky. Don't forget what they tried to do to Patton."

"Richard," the New Nixon said, "do you think they'll invite us to the Republican National Convention?"

"Invite us?" chuckled the Old Nixon. "Would you believe the keynote speaker?"

Washington Merry-Go-Round

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Excess Profits of Defense Contractors

with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — All but a handful of the nation's largest defense contractors have been successfully covering up billions of dollars in excess profits.

This is the finding of a confidential study by a House Banking subcommittee which is determined to close the legislative loopholes which make these excess profits possible.

Hordes of lobbyists, meanwhile, are struggling to keep them open.

The billion dollar battle centers on the obscure federal Renegotiation Board, the only independent office in the Executive branch specifically charged with rooting out excess defense profits.

But the beleaguered board is so undermanned that each of its accountants must evaluate a staggering $15 million in defense spending every hour, the study asserts.

The banking subcommittee chairman, Rep. Joseph Minish, D-N.J., backed by such veteran friends of austerity as Adm. Hyman Rickover, has tried for years to bolster the board.

Now, the Minish bill is being readied for House action. His subcommittee study detailes the excess profit coverup:

"In 1966, of the 100 largest defense contractors, none were subject to the renegotiation determination. In 1967, there was only one; 1968, four; 1969, two; 1970, two; 1971, three; 1972, two; 1973, seven; 1974, four.

"It seems clear that either 95 percent of the large contractors do not make excessive profits or else they are able to cover up their excessive profits. Undoubtedly, the latter is the real reason..."

The large corporations are able to avoid examination, the memo states, because of a "profit-averaging" loophole which allows them to offset profits in one corporate division with losses from another.

"The present system discriminates against the smaller corporation which primarily operates a one-line product. (It) is unable to offset its excessive profits..."

Minish has also targeted three other technical loopholes. One allowed the big defense producers to escape renegotiation on "1.5 billion of sales" in 1970 alone, according to the memo.

Another loophole was designed to aid the oil, timber, mineral and other big resource industries by exempting certain of their raw material sales from scrutiny by the board.

The most outrageous loophole, however, is one which permits defense contractors to pocket $80,000 in excess profits even if they are caught by the board. The profit-taking ceiling was $40,000 until after 1972, and the General Accounting Office has estimated that $1.6 million would have been lost to the taxpayers had the $80,000 regulation been in effect that year.

Republicans in the House have tried to retain the $80,000 loophole. Indeed, the Ford Administration has been strangely silent on the bill, despite the fact it would save the government billions.

One Board member estimated that merely adding 95 new staffers would mean a retrieval of $8 million for the government in 1977 alone. But the President's budget office has refused to assign any more auditors to the Board.

Footnote: One of the busiest lobbyists against a stronger Renegotiation Board has been former Rep. Charles Gubser, R-Calif., whose main distinction as a congressman was his incessant junketeering at taxpayers' expense.

SEXIST SECURITY: Sexual discrimination is so ingrained in the U.S. that 2.3 million or 18.3 percent of all women over 65 are living their "golden years" in poverty.

According to an internal report prepared for the Senate Aging Committee, the average retired woman worker must subsist on Social Security payments of $180 a month. Men average $225.

As a result, almost twice as many women as men live in poverty after retirement. Says the Senate study:

"The differential reflects an economy in which women workers are disproportionately found in low-pay and part-time occupations, even when they are the mainstay of family support ..."

To improve the Social Security system for women, the committee report urges a dozen changes, including one to allow disabled widows and surviving divorced wives to collect payments regardless of a age.

Another change would give higher benefits to families in which both the husband and wife worked. In some cases, now, a family with a non-working wife gets larger payments than the working couple, even though both had identical earnings.

The study also recommends extending payments to close dependent relatives living in the house of a worker who dies, retires or is disabled.

The Aging Committee, chaired by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, will hold hearings on the proposals later this week.

SHOULD PRACTICE HIS PREACHIN'

Remember Kit Bond criticizing Governor Hearnes and his staff of Honorary Colonels. Well when he became governor he did away with the Honorary Colonels and their pretty uniforms, but he formed instead, a Governor's Club, made up of those who contributed a certain amount of money to his campaign expenses. It now seems they have been rewarded for their generosity, for the information has come forth that 25 per cent of the Governor's Club membership now are holding state jobs or appointments to various boards of state departments. Maybe when he campaigns to succeed himself in office he will criticize his own behavior in public for doing what he criticized his precessor for doing.

MORE LUCRATIVE FIELD

The TV repairman had completed his house call and presented a bill for thirty dollars.

"Thirty dollars!" screamed the housewife. "Thirty dollars for a house call! Do you realize a doctor only charges twelve!"

"I know, Madam," said the repairman quietly, "I used to be one."

BIG DEAL

From The Dallas Morning News

THE FEDERAL Reserve Bank in San Francisco is bragging about its new incinerator, which will burn up $4 million in old money a day.

We can't see what the 'Frisco Fed is crowing about. We have a Congress that can dispose of 10 times that much money in 10 minutes. And the congressional disposal takes care of any kind-old, new and money from taxpayers yet unborn.

THY NEIGHBOR'S ASPIDISTRA

We are, on the one hand, prepared to render the sternest and most unforgiving of judgments on those persons of whom we have been reading lately who are given to stealing other people's potted plants. But, on the other hand, we find it impossible to believe that anyone who is a regular reader of this space could steal another persons' potted plant.

On the theory that it is barely possible that one or another of the readers of this page might once have met someone who had a cousin whose brother-in-law knew a fellow who was married to a person with Dieffenbachia-envy, we will state the obvious and hope it trickles down: Floraheist is one of the lowest and meanest forms of larceny. It is, not only wrong but stupid. To put it another way, leave your neighbor's Nidularium alone. Take your hands off his Platycerium bifurcatum. Grow your own Saxifraga sarmentosa, if you're so smart. For to make off with someone else's Sansevieria trifasciata laurentiii is not just to deprive that person of an object to which he or she has undoubtedly become attached, it is also to misunderstand the whole point of potted-plantery as it has developed in our time. The point is to have the satisfaction of making something grew, of watching it beat the urban odds, of learning to love it-each and every mysteriously splotched and hopelessly puny leaf.

Thus, potted-plant theft is self-defeating. There are some things you can't steal, not because they are chained down, but because they aren't transferrable—and among them is the reward of growing a green plant.

At the risk of sounding...well...permissive, we would compromise just this much: If you should by any remote chance know a person or two who might be tempted to this miserable crime, tell them, for God's sake, not to take the plant, but merely to take a cutting, provided of course that the coveted object is not a single-stalked palm tree. Or better yet, tell them to seek permission to take a small cutting.

THE CARDIAC CANDIDATE: ARE YOU ONE..

II

Take a closer look at your liestyle. Is it turning you into a prime candidate for heart attack or stroke..

Dr. Elliot Rapaport, president of the Ameican Hart Associatio, says that themore than 880,000 deaths each year from two of the nation's major killers - heart attack and stroke - re proof that "too many Americans are doing toolittle to safeguard their hearts."

He points out that scientists havepinned down certain "risk factors" + conditions taht lead to heart disease.

"By modifying someo f these risk facors, and minimizing the danger of those we can't change," he says, "our chances ofliving longer, heart- healthy lives are geatly increased."

Dr. Rapaport cites certain risk factors which can't be avoided - heredity, sex, age and race:

"We've found that a tendency toward certain heart diseases can be inherited. If a parent or grand parent suffeed from heart attackor stroke, there's a greater chance that you may also suffer from that disease. Some heart diseases do affect ne sex more than another, and vulnerability increes with age. Your race is also a factor. For example, black Americans sufer a higher incidence of high blood pressure than white Americans."

But the Heart Association physician points out that there are risk factors that can be avoided:

"The three major ones are high blood pressure - which can be kept at a safe level through effective drug and diet therapy; a high cholesterol level - which you can help lower through proper diet; and cigarete smoking - which can be eliminated altogether."

Another risk factor is obedity. And this, too, can be controlled.

"We're a nation of overeaters and television athletes," he says."If we'd spend less time in front of the TV set and the dinnertable, and more time walking and performing other moderae daily exercise, we'd live longer, heart- healthy lives,"

Dr. Rapaport offers a simple rule for heart- healthy eating: Stick to foods low in saturated fats and cholesterol, such as fish (except shellfish) and poultry and whole grain products, skim milk and its by-products. Limit egg yolks to no more than three per week. Avoid excessive amounts of whole milk products, beef, pork and veal, which are high in saturated fats and cholesterol.

But when it comes toexercise, he cautions:

"Before you start any exercise program or undertake a strenuous activity, see your doctor. He's the only one who can decide what's best for you. Exercise - it's a good ting, if you don't overdo it."

What it all boils down it, Dr. Rapaport says, is this: "Life is filled with risks. But when it comes to heart attack and stroke, you must consider risk factors. By taking a hard look at your lifestyle, and making it more heart- healthy, you can eliminate or reduc your chances of heart attack or stroke."

LET OUR CHILDREN PRAY

Two moves to restore a sense of reverence into the eleementary school system were reported this week as we write. At Concord, N.H., Governor Meldrim Thomson is expected to sign a bill that would permit the voluntary recitation of the Lord's Prayer in public elementary schools at the option of local school districts. And a Connecticut buill, which would provide for an optional period of silent meditation at the beginning of the school day has been approved by Fovernor Ella Grasso who has promised to sign it.

We wonder what children of elementary school age will make of silent meditation, since it is almost impossible for adults to concentrate upon the deity without some aids to prayer but, if some direction is given beforehand and some material evidence of what has been achieved is expected afterwards, the silent period could be very productive, for children, even more than adults, can live in the world of the mind.

We nearly wrote, "the world of imagination" but thought that phrase might be misunderstood. However, in explanation, we would like to quote G.B. Shaw's play, St. Joan, where Joan explains the source of her confidence to Robert, The French captain. "I hear voices," says Joan, "They come from God." "Garn," says Robert, says Robert, "they come from your imagination." "That's how God speaks to me," says Joan, "through my imagination." This might be over-simplification for the trained theologian, but at least it is practical explanation for the common man.

In an earlier reference to the absence of prayers in schools—an absence which, in a professedly enlightened nation appals us—we conceded that in a nation so multi-racial as the United States, and therefore so multi-religionist, it could be considered by minority religions an impingement upon their religious freedom to have their children compelled to receive specificially Christian, and more especially denominational instruction. Nevertheless, is it unreasonable to expect that people enjoying the benefits of laws and moral standards based upon the Christian faith, will acknowledge the source from which these blessings flow?

And the Source, we are pleased to say, does not coerce faith. We have a Father God who hides Himself, and the Jesus who claimed "He that hath seen Me hath seen the Father" is broadminded enough to say of some "who walked not with Him" but who performed miracles in His name, that "he who is not against us is for our part."

That is why it does not contravene anyone's religiious beliefs, even of those of deep-rooted ancestral faith, to pray the Lord's Prayer which Jesus taught His disciples. At no point does it enter into those specifics which could become a subject for religious controversy. Parents of the children at Concord, N.H., need have no fear that their offspring will be indoctrinated or, to use a modern term, "brain-washed."

The only people likely to object are the so-called atheists. Even here can they honestly object to the use of "Our Father" for the "Prime Mover of the Universe"? Do not they themselves act as if the universe is friendly? Will they not in argument even claim to be part of that "Primal Existence" we call God?

We can understand if, in their philosophical naivety, they fall into the error of pantheism and thus in effect thus call themselves "god." We will be content if, as a start, they will acknowledge their minuteness in comparison with the "Primal Being"; if, in fact, they will be humble enough to begin exploriring the infinite beauty and truth of Him we call God and who is the genesis of that science which they think they inventef themselves.

Such humility is the beginning of education.

THE COMEBACK TRAIL

WASHINGTON — The New Nixon was sitting on the porch of La Casa Pacifica at San Clemente slumped in his chair staring out at the sea. The Old Nixon carrying a golf bag came out jauntily whistling "Hail to the Chief."

"Where are you going?" the New Nixon asked bitterly.

"I'm going to play golf with the Teamsters at La Costa," the Old Nixon said. "What a day."

"How can you play golf after what we've been through?" the New Nixon asked.

"Cheer up, Dicky boy," the Old Nixon said. "We're on the comeback trail. Look at this. We're on the cover of Newsweek magazine. Did you ever dream we'd ever make the cover of Newsweek again?"

The New Nixon shook his head. "I don't get it. You never give up, do you?"

The Old Nixon said, "You're damn right I never give up. They had me counted out after the presidential election in 1960. They said I couldn't get elected dogcatcher after I lost for governor in 1962. But I fooled them, Dicky, and I'm going to fool them again. They haven't heard the last of Richard Milhaus Nixon."

"I wouldn't believe it if I didn't see it with my own eyes," the New Nixon said.

"Wait until our book comes out," the Old Nixon said. "Just wait until they hear our side of the story. There will be more than Teamsters wanting to play golf with me then."

"Richard," said the New Nixon, "do you really think we can make a comeback? Or are you just saying that to make me feel better?"

"It's in the cards, Dicky. After my interviews with David Frost, the American people are going to see that all we were trying to do was protect the Presidency of the United States. Oh, there will be some who will say we lied and we cheated and we brought disgrace on the office. But we won't hate them for saying that."

"We won't?" the New Nixon said.

"No," replied the Old Nixon, "but we'll keep their names on file cards and someday when we're back in power they're going to be sorry they ever made an issue of Watergate."

"What are we going to say about Watergate in our book?"

"It was a mistake, and we should have taken more of an interest in what our staff was doing. They let us down. But we're not going to blame them. We're taking full responsibility for their actions, no matter how contemptible they were and no matter how much we disapproved of the illegal manner in which they carried out our orders. As President it was our job to see that they did not violate the trust we had given them, in spite of all the other things we had on our mind during that momentous period in American history."

"I think Peoria will buy it," the New Nixon said.

"It will just be a matter of time, Dicky, before we're on top again," the Old Nixon said. "We'll take atrip to China, then to the Soviet Union and then to the Middle East. They love us over there, not like the creeps in this country who always had it in for us."

The New Nixon was suddenly coming out of his lethargy.

"You know, you might just possibly swing it," he said. "Six months ago I wouldn't have given 18½ minutes of tape for our chances of making a comeback. But now with the book and the TV and the Teamsters I'm starting to feel like a new man."

The Old Nixon slapped him on the back. "Atta boy, Dicky. Don't forget what they tried to do to Patton."

"Richard," the New Nixon said, "do you think they'll invite us to the Republican National Convention?"

"Invite us?" chuckled the Old Nixon. "Would you believe the keynote speaker?"

Washington Merry-Go-Round

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Excess Profits of Defense Contractors

with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — All but a handful of the nation's largest defense contractors have been successfully covering up billions of dollars in excess profits.

This is the finding of a confidential study by a House Banking subcommittee which is determined to close the legislative loopholes which make these excess profits possible.

Hordes of lobbyists, meanwhile, are struggling to keep them open.

The billion dollar battle centers on the obscure federal Renegotiation Board, the only independent office in the Executive branch specifically charged with rooting out excess defense profits.

But the beleaguered board is so undermanned that each of its accountants must evaluate a staggering $15 million in defense spending every hour, the study asserts.

The banking subcommittee chairman, Rep. Joseph Minish, D-N.J., backed by such veteran friends of austerity as Adm. Hyman Rickover, has tried for years to bolster the board.

Now, the Minish bill is being readied for House action. His subcommittee study detailes the excess profit coverup:

"In 1966, of the 100 largest defense contractors, none were subject to the renegotiation determination. In 1967, there was only one; 1968, four; 1969, two; 1970, two; 1971, three; 1972, two; 1973, seven; 1974, four.

"It seems clear that either 95 percent of the large contractors do not make excessive profits or else they are able to cover up their excessive profits. Undoubtedly, the latter is the real reason..."

The large corporations are able to avoid examination, the memo states, because of a "profit-averaging" loophole which allows them to offset profits in one corporate division with losses from another.

"The present system discriminates against the smaller corporation which primarily operates a one-line product. (It) is unable to offset its excessive profits..."

Minish has also targeted three other technical loopholes. One allowed the big defense producers to escape renegotiation on "1.5 billion of sales" in 1970 alone, according to the memo.

Another loophole was designed to aid the oil, timber, mineral and other big resource industries by exempting certain of their raw material sales from scrutiny by the board.

The most outrageous loophole, however, is one which permits defense contractors to pocket $80,000 in excess profits even if they are caught by the board. The profit-taking ceiling was $40,000 until after 1972, and the General Accounting Office has estimated that $1.6 million would have been lost to the taxpayers had the $80,000 regulation been in effect that year.

Republicans in the House have tried to retain the $80,000 loophole. Indeed, the Ford Administration has been strangely silent on the bill, despite the fact it would save the government billions.

One Board member estimated that merely adding 95 new staffers would mean a retrieval of $8 million for the government in 1977 alone. But the President's budget office has refused to assign any more auditors to the Board.

Footnote: One of the busiest lobbyists against a stronger Renegotiation Board has been former Rep. Charles Gubser, R-Calif., whose main distinction as a congressman was his incessant junketeering at taxpayers' expense.

SEXIST SECURITY: Sexual discrimination is so ingrained in the U.S. that 2.3 million or 18.3 percent of all women over 65 are living their "golden years" in poverty.

According to an internal report prepared for the Senate Aging Committee, the average retired woman worker must subsist on Social Security payments of $180 a month. Men average $225.

As a result, almost twice as many women as men live in poverty after retirement. Says the Senate study:

"The differential reflects an economy in which women workers are disproportionately found in low-pay and part-time occupations, even when they are the mainstay of family support ..."

To improve the Social Security system for women, the committee report urges a dozen changes, including one to allow disabled widows and surviving divorced wives to collect payments regardless of a age.

Another change would give higher benefits to families in which both the husband and wife worked. In some cases, now, a family with a non-working wife gets larger payments than the working couple, even though both had identical earnings.

The study also recommends extending payments to close dependent relatives living in the house of a worker who dies, retires or is disabled.

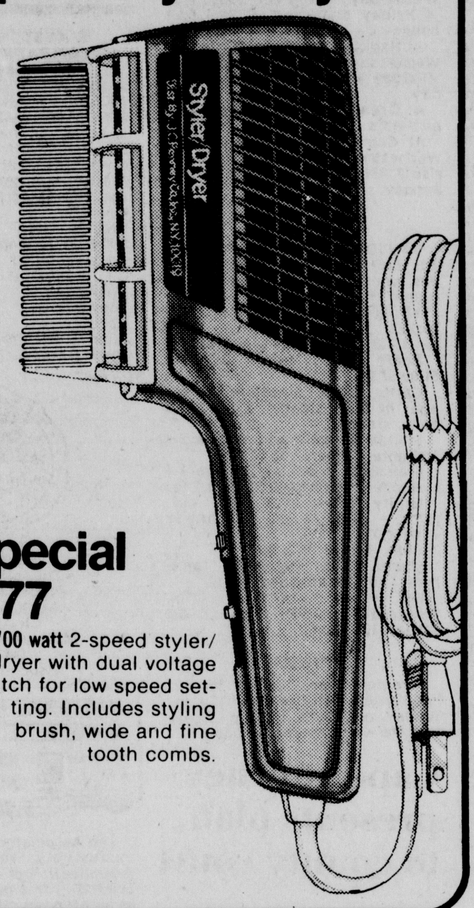

The Aging Committee, chaired by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, will hold hearings on the proposals later this week.

Cape attorney presents plan to county court

BENTON — Cape Girardeau City Attorney Thomas M. Utterback met with the Scott County Court Monday and presented maps and a planning statute to include a two-mile extra-territorial area which is in Scott County.

He told the court that this was not meant to be a land grab by the City of Cape Girardeau, but just a planning statute to regulate any development in this area, since Scott County does not yet have a planning and zoning commission.

Mickey Gage and Ron Burger of Scott City, who have property in the area, voiced opposition. Scott City Mayor James Cauble also opposed the proposal, saying that he believed that Cape Girardeau would eventually attempt to annex this area with boundries only one-fourth of a mile from the city limits of Scott City.

Kenneth Raney, a member of the Scott City-Illmo R-1 School District said it would place the R-1 school under the Cape Girardeau jurisdiction.

Judge Melvin Glueck, said the county was in the process of forming it's own planning and zoning commission and could see no harm in waiting until it is formed, then the restrictions on the land use would be decided by the Scott County Planning Commission.

Uttterback was told the matter would be taken under advisement.

The perm of tomorrow is here today.

If you're into the new, natural look in hair fashions, you probably think perms are not for you. Not true!

Redken has created a system of perming without free ammonia (and its harsh results!) Formulated for today's hair fashions, the Redken Trichoperm System has protein derivatives and a low pH (close to your hair's natural pH). The combination of a low pH, no free ammonia and protein derivatives results in a perm that comes out better, is much more natural looking.

If you want your hairstyle to last without the frizzy, me-too look of yesterday's perms, you want The Redken Trichoperm System. Available in a formula specifically suited to your type of hair. Make an appointment today!

Cape attorney presents plan to county court

BENTON — Cape Girardeau City Attorney Thomas M. Utterback met with the Scott County Court Monday and presented maps and a planning statute to include a two-mile extra-territorial area which is in Scott County.

He told the court that this was not meant to be a land grab by the City of Cape Girardeau, but just a planning statute to regulate any development in this area, since Scott County does not yet have a planning and zoning commission.

Mickey Gage and Ron Burger of Scott City, who have property in the area, voiced opposition. Scott City Mayor James Cauble also opposed the proposal, saying that he believed that Cape Girardeau would eventually attempt to annex this area with boundries only one-fourth of a mile from the city limits of Scott City.

Kenneth Raney, a member of the Scott City-Illmo R-1 School District said it would place the R-1 school under the Cape Girardeau jurisdiction.

Judge Melvin Glueck, said the county was in the process of forming it's own planning and zoning commission and could see no harm in waiting until it is formed, then the restrictions on the land use would be decided by the Scott County Planning Commission.

Uttterback was told the matter would be taken under advisement.

The perm of tomorrow is here today.
If you're into the new, natural look in hair fashions, you probably think perms are not for you. Not true!
Redken has created a system of perming without free ammonia (and its harsh results!) Formulated for today's hair fashions, the Redken Trichoperm System has protein derivatives and a low pH (close to your hair's natural pH). The combination of a low pH, no free ammonia and protein derivatives results in a perm that comes out better, is much more natural looking.
If you want your hairstyle to last without the frizzy, me-too look of yesterday's perms, you want The Redken Trichoperm System. Available in a formula specifically suited to your type of hair. Make an appointment today!

Alcoholic mothers:
Unborn face retardation

SEATTLE (AP) — Alcoholic mothers are damning their newborns to mental retardation, physical deformity or death, according to Dr. James Hanson.

Hanson, a fellow in the Department of Pediatrics at the University of Washington, says women don't realize how easily the alcohol from their own blood stream flows through the placenta into the child they carry.

Some infants are even born intoxicated, like the baby that showed a blood-alcohol reading of 155 miligrams shortly after birth. The mother had a reading of 130 miligrams. Although the point of intoxication varies with each person, a reading of 100 is usually where the line is drawn, Dr. Hanson said.

Hanson has studied the problem for two years.

"In one of the studies we have done, about 17 per cent of the babies didn't survive the newborn period," Hanson said. "Of the survivors, 44 per cent were mentally retarded."

He said others suffered from growth deficiencies.

"We don't understand exactly how it produces the damage in the baby, except that it appears to interfere with cellular growth," Hanson said. "And that isn't surprising because you can use alcohol to sterilize and kill bacteria, so it could kill or interfere with delicate developmental processes in a developing baby."

Teen-aged girls called a public health problem

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Health officials report one out of 10 teenage girls in the city became pregnant last year. But because of abortions, either spontaneous or induced, only one in 14 of the city's 26,000 teenage girls gave birth to a child.

More than half of the 1,779 new teenage mothers (973) were not married, according to health department reports.

John F. Allanson, educator for the department, calls the figures "a real shocker." He said the maternal risk or chances of delivering a malformed or retarded child are much greater during the teenage years.

"For that reason we consider our findings to indicate a real public health problem," he said.

Harry House, co-ordinator of the department's family planning program, said "We have got children ill-prepared for parenthood having children." He said the study indicated it might be necessary to target the department's contraceptive education efforts toward junior high school students. The city's family planning program now is aimed mainlyat adults and senior high school students.

Allanson said a recent American Medical Association publication states that "teenage girls accounted for one-fourth of the 900,000 abortions done last year in this country."

Ann Landers granted divorce

CHICAGO (AP) — Ann Landers, one of America's most popular advice to the lovelorn columnists, has been granted a divorce from Jules W. Lederer, her husband of 36 years.

At a brief court hearing on Friday, Miss Landers testified that her husband committed "extreme and repeated acts of mental cruelty."

The divorce suit, filed under her real name, Esther P. Lederer, charged that Lederer caused her "embarrassment, humiliation and anguish, and has affected (her) physical and mental well-being."

Until recently Lederer was chairman of Budget Rent-A-Car Corp. in Chicago.

The couple, both 57, were married in Sioux City, Iowa, on July 2, 1939, and have been separated since May 10. They have one daughter.

Different colors can influence others

By ELSA WILLIAMS

Have you ever been disappointed in a finished piece of embroidery because the colors that looked so delectable as a handful of yarn skeins, didn't do as well on the meedlepoint canvas? I think it's because one often forgets that needlepoint is not a flat pattern of unchanging colors. Colors combined with other colors may look different in a new juxtaposition as one color "influences" another. This is illustrated in four panels, identical in subject, which appear in my book, "Creative Canvas Work."

In each panel a simple wild rose with a stem, bud and leaves is worked in shades of coral, pinks, greens and yellow accents. In the first panel the rose, embroidered against a solid white background, has the effect of a water color done on white paper. The same flower, worked against a background of unrelieved black, makes the colors of both flower and leaves appear darker. The deeper greens of the leaves almost disappear into the dark background.

In the third and fourth panels, something quite different happens. Here, with the introduction of shadow, the existence oflight and air around the flower is shown. The flower in the third panel is stitched against a pale blue-gray. A deeper gray is used for the shadows. These I designed by counting the stitches in the central motif and duplicating them on the background, placing the shadow stitches to the right of the design and six below. This adds a dimension of depth to the picture and the rose seems to "come away" from the background.

In the fourth panel the background is a deeper gray, closer in value to the shadows. The shadows themselves are counted and stitched above and to the right of the rose instead of below it.Since both natural and artificial light usually come from abov, these shadows tend to give a confusing impression.

The moral is: Always remember to consider the source of light when you want to dramatize a simple needlepoint motif with shadows.

Ear elsa,

Is embroidery or needlepoint ever mounted with a mat instead of simple framing?

D.J.L.

Dear D.J.L.,

Yes, indeed — and consideration of the size and color of the mat is an important factor in the appearance of the finished picture.

If you'd like to try an interesting experiment embroider a needlepoint mat around your picture. Use a contrasting band in a textured stitch such as the Parisian. Accomplished needlewoman Ellen Rae Kaufman stitched a white border around a small picture of a tomato and leaves. The background of the picture was dark and she achieved an unusual and distinctive effect by stitching one or two of the leaves right out over the white border.

Ann Landers
Wife blames husband for pregnancy

Dear Ann Landers: I am 30 years of age, have one child, 18 months old, and am expecting another in December. I really do want another baby, but I did not want to have it so close to the first one.

I am smoldering with resentment against my husband because he was not very considerate about my wishes in this matter. I recallvery clearly the night he made me pregnant. I argued with him about it for an hour, but he just kept talking until he got his way.

I feel lousy most of the time, much worse than when I was pregnant with the first baby. I'm sure my resentment toward my husband's selfishness is having a bad physical effect on me. Since it's the woman who must carry and deliver the child, shouldn't it be her decision when to become pregnant? The more I think of what happened to me the more furious (and sicker) I get.

I'm sure other women have gone through this same thing. How do they get over their anger? When will it happen? Please help me. – Feeling Rotten In Denver

Dar Denver: Of course other women have found themselves in the same condition under similar circumstances. Thousands of 'em. Maybe millions.

They get over their anger the moment the new baby is placed in their arms and they have a second child to love.

P.S. Fortunately, Mother Nature deisgned short memories for feelings like yours. The alternative would be about 500,000 dead husbands annually.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 17-year-old girl who just read your reply to "Seen Plenty." I agree with you that parents can be too permissive with young, sexy daughters, but why didn't you say something to parents of teen-age boys? I've "Seen Plenty" of them around and they could sure use some talking to.

Some guys in this town walk around with their jeans so low on their hips it's a disgrace – belly-button showing, no shirts, also "four-fifths naked." I've seen guys walking the streets in bikinis no bigger than a diaper for a three-month-old baby. They are more like loincloths than bathing trunks.

My mother knows where I am and who I'm with every minute of my life. I also have to honor a curfew or get grounded. But my 16-year-old brother is never asked a single question -- like, "What were you doing until 2 o'clock this morning?"

I'm not criticizing you for suggesting that girls be kept in line, but I'm plenty bugged because you said nothing about boys. It's a real pleasure to spend an evening with a guy who has been taught to respect a girl and not have to fight him off every ten minutes or argue with him about keeping what belongs to me in the first place. Please be fair, Ann. -- You Let Us Down In Riverside

Dear L.D.: Thanks for hualing me up short. I had it coming. Nothing I can say could be half as effective as your letter. I hope the parents out there give it the thought it deserves.

CONFIDENTIAL to What's With Him?: Never mind HIM. What's with you that you'd waste five years with a three-time loser who lives with his mother and needs to spend three evenings a week in a bar "solving life's problems" – alone?

Household hints

Get rid of the bugs under your new plants if you want to keep the mice away from your garden, says Bill Meachem, gardening consultant for a wax company. Spray the soil inside your planting holes to kill the bugs that attract moles. That way you keep the moles away. It's probably the mole runs that the mice are using to get to your plants.

Ann Landers
Wife blames husband for pregnancy

Dear Ann Landers: I am 30 years of age, have one child, 18 months old, and am expecting another in December. I really do want another baby, but I did not want to have it so close to the first one.

I am smoldering with resentment against my husband because he was not very considerate about my wishes in this matter. I recallvery clearly the night he made me pregnant. I argued with him about it for an hour, but he just kept talking until he got his way.

I feel lousy most of the time, much worse than when I was pregnant with the first baby. I'm sure my resentment toward my husband's selfishness is having a bad physical effect on me. Since it's the woman who must carry and deliver the child, shouldn't it be her decision when to become pregnant? The more I think of what happened to me the more furious (and sicker) I get.

I'm sure other women have gone through this same thing. How do they get over their anger? When will it happen? Please help me. – Feeling Rotten In Denver

Dar Denver: Of course other women have found themselves in the same condition under similar circumstances. Thousands of 'em. Maybe millions.

They get over their anger the moment the new baby is placed in their arms and they have a second child to love.

P.S. Fortunately, Mother Nature deisgned short memories for feelings like yours. The alternative would be about 500,000 dead husbands annually.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 17-year-old girl who just read your reply to "Seen Plenty." I agree with you that parents can be too permissive with young, sexy daughters, but why didn't you say something to parents of teen-age boys? I've "Seen Plenty" of them around and they could sure use some talking to.

Some guys in this town walk around with their jeans so low on their hips it's a disgrace – belly-button showing, no shirts, also "four-fifths naked." I've seen guys walking the streets in bikinis no bigger than a diaper for a three-month-old baby. They are more like loincloths than bathing trunks.

My mother knows where I am and who I'm with every minute of my life. I also have to honor a curfew or get grounded. But my 16-year-old brother is never asked a single question -- like, "What were you doing until 2 o'clock this morning?"

I'm not criticizing you for suggesting that girls be kept in line, but I'm plenty bugged because you said nothing about boys. It's a real pleasure to spend an evening with a guy who has been taught to respect a girl and not have to fight him off every ten minutes or argue with him about keeping what belongs to me in the first place. Please be fair, Ann. -- You Let Us Down In Riverside

Dear L.D.: Thanks for hualing me up short. I had it coming. Nothing I can say could be half as effective as your letter. I hope the parents out there give it the thought it deserves.

CONFIDENTIAL to What's With Him?: Never mind HIM. What's with you that you'd waste five years with a three-time loser who lives with his mother and needs to spend three evenings a week in a bar "solving life's problems" – alone?

Household hints

Get rid of the bugs under your new plants if you want to keep the mice away from your garden, says Bill Meachem, gardening consultant for a wax company. Spray the soil inside your planting holes to kill the bugs that attract moles. That way you keep the moles away. It's probably the mole runs that the mice are using to get to your plants.

ABA teams request NBA membership

NEW YORK (AP) — American Basketball Association owners, in a move they said would bolster the sport's weakening financial status, moved to join the National Basketball Association after burying another of the economy's victims—the Baltimore Claws.

"There's no way professional basketball can survive if 25 of the 28 teams in both leagues lose substantial amounts of money every year," said John Y. Brown, president of the ABA. "We're trying to take some intelligent steps to force professional basketball into some posture of sound business and responsibility."

That theory was put into practice Monday, when owners of the seven other ABA clubs joined the New York Nets and Denver Rockets in requesting applications for membership in the NBA beginning in the 1976-77 season. New York and Denver had done so on Sept. 24.

"Merger is the wrong word," said an ABA spokesman. "We're forbidden for merging, legally, without consent of the NBA players association and the courts."

Indeed, the courts — of law, not basketball — appear to hold the key to the sport's future. Separate telegrams sent by each remaining ABA club to NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien said, in part: "If the NBA has interest in considering an application, we would like the NBA to join with us in petitioning Judge (Robert L.) Carter for permission to process an application under such circumstances as he may deem appropriate and consistent with his prior orders."

Those orders include prohibition of any merger between leagues not approved by Judge Carter and the NBA Players Association, which is involved in antitrust action to prevent such a merger. While not calling it a merger attempt, New York Nets' Owner Roy Boe made clear his feelings on the matter.

"The key to the survival of basketball is to be one league," he said. "Anybody who understands what's happening in basketball realizes the sport is in a serious position and that we need consolidation to survive."

That point probably is clearest to personnel of the Baltimore Claws, who fade into ignominy without having played a regular season game. The club's remains — the players — will be redistributed through a dispersal draft.

"The guys feel it is part of our lives that has been swooped away," said veteran center Mel Daniels of the Claws. "We tried hard to keep it together by working real hard in practice, even when we weren't getting paid."

"Believe it or not, there was still a ray of hope today," said Lou Grasmick, one of the lastminute Baltimore investors. "We had some luck raising money over the weekend, and if we had been granted another 24 hours, I think we could have raised it. We were some $200,-000 short."

That shortage was enough to prompt new ABA Commissioner Dave DeBusschere to drop the franchise. "He didn't want the league to have to step in and help the team like it did with Memphis last year," explained a spokesman.

World series to resume tonight

BOSTON (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds and Boston Red Sox stop fighting the rain tonight and start fighting each other again in a long-awaited sixth game of the World Series.

After three straight rainouts, all systems were "go" for the delayed contest at Fenway Park.

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, who called off Monday night's scheduled game because of a treacherous field, gave the green light for tonight with the optimistic assurance that "the field will be much better."

The weather was expected to be much better than it has been in recent days, too. Fenway Park, under siege by a longwinded storm since last Friday night, recuperated under the tender care of a "lawn doctor," groundskeeper Joe Mooney, and was expected to be healthy again.

Sunshine and temperatures in the 60s, the National Weather Service prediction, won't hurt Fenway, either.

"I'm edgy to play," said Boston right fielder Dwight Evans, reflecting the common feeling of ballplayers and just about everyone else.

They almost played Monday night — and would have except that Kuhn wasn't entirely happy with the conditions. He spent a long time on Fenway's outfield turf in conference with associates, including Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson and Darrell Johnson of Boston.

"The field is not suitable for a World Series game of such importance," Kuhn finally said.

Particularly bad was the right field section of Fenway Park, as Evans testified.

"It was awfully wet," the player pointed out. "Pop flies might fall in because fielders can't get to them. You might need a spoon to get the baseball out of the ground."

The rainout tied an undistinguished Series record. In 1962, the San Francisco Giants and New York Yankees also had a game postponed three times by rain. Ironically, it was also the sixth game.

For the second straight day, Anderson took his National League champions to a gymnasium on the Tufts campus.

"We haven't lost any time the last two days since we have been able to work out," Anderson said. "We got as much work in as possible."

The continued postponement didn't change Anderson's pitching plans. He stayed with Gary Nolan as his starter in Game No. 6 and Don Gullett for the for the seventh game, if necessary.

Nolan will face Luis Tiant, the ace of the Boston staff who owns the only two Red Sox victories in this series so far. The Reds, holding a 3-2 edge, can finish off Boston with a victory tonight and carry home their first world championship since 1940.

Big Red to curb errors

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals will work hard on curbing errors that have beset them in early season, Coach Don Coryell says.

But until the trend is reversed, the coach of the National Football League club said Monday, all the Cards can do is strive to overcome their fumbles and interceptions.

Coryell's reference at a Quarterback Club luncheon was to two fumbles the Cards surrendered and two interceptions they suffered during the first half of their 31-20 victory Sunday over the Philadelphia Eagles.

"There is no way you can eliminate all your mistakes. You just have to play around them," he said. "You just have to play that much harder."

Card fumbles Sunday were by 6-foot, 215-pound fullback Jim Otis, who atoned for the miscues by scoring two touchdowns and rushing for 116 yards.

"He's quicker," Coryell said of Otis, who headed a 278-yard Cards ground attack and broke off a 24-yard run, the longest of his pro career. "It's nice to be able to have him run outside more than he did last year."

Cardinal running against the Eagles contrasted steeply with that which the club abondoned early in its 27-17 loss to the Washington Redskins in the previous game and which produced only 68 yards.

"When you play a football game, you try to do the thing you can do best against that particular defense," Coryell noted.

"They (Redskins) gave us an overshift to our strong side and brought the safety up tight to pinch us off," he said. "We were actually up against an eight-man line. It would have been suicide to run. If we'd hit some of the stuff (passes) that was there the first half we would have been in with three touchdowns."

Otis runs Sunday boosted his five game total to 395 yards on 91 carries, a 4.3 average, and contributed to a reshaping of the big play image, the Cards created during their 10-4 season last year.

"I'd say we're a better football team," Coryell maintained, despite a current 3-2 record. "We have about the same players. One of these days we'll prove we're better."

Cards trade Davis

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Veteran outfielder Willie Davis was traded Monday by the St. Louis Cardinals to the San Diego Padres.

In exchange the Cards got outfielder Dick Sharon, 25, and assigned him to their Tulsa American Associaton farm club.

The move opened some space for Hector Cruz, a hot hitting prospect for the Tulsa Club, said General Manager Bing Devine Monday.

Cruz was brought up too replace Davis during five days the swift outfielder missed in August. At Tulsa Cruz hit 29 home runs with 116 RBIs.

Davis missed the August games in an alimony dispute with his former wife and late that month said he would leave the game unless he signed a five-year $1 million contract to solve his financial problems.

"Davis didn't fit into our plans," said Devine, "because of our young players, his salary and the fact that he still is geared to play."

Cross country Saturday

Eleven Southeast Missouri cross country teams will be competing in MSHSAA district meets on Oct. 25. The district's Class A schools will compete at Cape Girardeau's Capaha Park, while Southeast Missouri's only Class AA cross country schools, Cape Girardeau Central and Poplar Bluff, will run at St. Louis Jefferson Barracks.

Area teams competing in the Class A district will be Cape Notre Dame, Cape St. Vincents, Delta C-7, Dexter, Farmington, Jackson, Kennett, Potosi and Valle of St. Genevieve. Also in that district meet will be Bismarck, Herculaneum, North County of Desloge, Hillsboro and Windsor.

In addition to Central and Poplar Bluff, schools assigned to the Jefferson Barracks Class AA meet are Fox of Arnold, Northwest of House Springs, Affton, Kirkwood, Lindbergh, Mehlville, Oakville, Vianney, Webster Groves and Waynesville.

This will be the first season for cross country schools to be divided into groups. Southeast Missouri's nine Class A teams should have a much better chance for recognition this year, since the larger schools have always dominated the competition in the past. For example, in last year's state meet at Columbia, all twelve of the full teams who qualified were from schools classified this year as AA. And all 15 of the top individual finishers were also from the big schools which are AA this year.

In this year's district meets, the top two teams and the top ten individuals will qualify for the state meet in Columbia.

Dexter prevails in volleyball

Costly mistakes and a few bad breaks in the third game were determining factors Monday evening at the SHS fieldhouse as the Sikeston Bulldog volleyball team forced a heavily favored Dexter team to go three games before downing the Sikeston team.

Sikeston coach Jane Merrick was disappointed that her team had lost a five point lead in the third period, but she admitted that it was the best the Bulldogs have played all season. "The girls are finally starting to set up the ball for the spike," said the SHS coach.

It was all Dexter in the first game, as the talented visitors claimed a 15-3 win. Dexter made wholesale substitutions in the second game, which saw Sikeston come back to take an easy 15-6 victory.

While the home team had looked good against the Dexter reserves, most of the crowd was surprised when the Bulldogs continued to play well against the Bearcat starters when the third and deciding game started. Siketon jumped out to a quick 5-0 lead and were ahead at one time 7-2. The Bulldogs were within three points of victory later on, but then got a bad break when one of the line judges inadvertently got in the way of a Dexter girl trying to make a save. The official alertly and fairly called for a replay of the point, which Sikeston lost. Dexter then came back to take the lead and win the game and match.

Sikeston's B team wasn't so fortunate. Dexter dumped the Bulldog jayvees 15-7 and 15-2.

Sikeston will try to improve on their 2-7 record tonight as they host Charleston at the fieldhouse, with the B game starting at 6 p.m.

SHS grid history

The last time the Sikeston Bulldogs defeated Cape Central in football, most of today's footballers were in grade school. For those interested, Sikeston last defeated the Tigers at public Schools Stadium, 14-6, back in 1968. That Bulldogs team went on to finish in a tie with Cape and Perryville for the conference championship with a 7-3 overall record. With a 5-2 mark and three games to go, this year's team could become the first squad to match, or better, that mark in the past eight years.

The Bulldogs 3-0 record is also good for undisputed possession of first place in the conference standings, the first time a Sikeston team has stood there since the end of the 1967 season.

Some of this year's Bulldogs weren't even born the last time a Bulldog team took Cape at Central's home field, Houck Stadium. That happening was 16 years ago, in 1959. There have been several ties, but no wins, in the eight meetings since that year.

Dr. Lamb

No cholesterol in nuts

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — What is the cause of cholesterol in one's system? I understand that it comes from fatty acids in animal fats, butter, nuts, etc., but I wonder why some people have high cholesterol levels and others don't although each are on similar diets.

My cholesterol level is 343, and my physician has me on a diet and tells me the level shouldn't be over 250 at the most. I'm 58, male, in good health, no heart attacks, no high blood pressure. Will appreciate some help.

DEAR READER — Cholesterol is only an animal product. I keep getting letters asking about it being in nuts. It is not. The rub is that excess fat in the diet, particularly saturated fat found in animal fat, stimulates the liver to form increased amounts of cholesterol. Excess calories may do the same thing.

Your doctor is right to put you on a diet. It may help lower your cholesterol level, and it should be lowered.

Cholesterol is formed chiefly by the liver. The liver acts in many ways as a regulator of blood cholesterol. In some people with certain inherited characteristics the liver tends to form more cholesterol, even if the person is skinny and on a good diet. In other persons, even when obese, the liver seems not to form so much cholesterol. This may be a genetic factor, just as diabetes can be.

The cholesterol in your blood really comes from two sources, that manufactured by your own body, chiefly in the liver, and that absorbed in your food. Only a few foods are really high in cholesterol. Chief among these are the egg yolk and organ meats, particularly brains.

If you want more information on foods and diet to control cholesterol, write to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Send 50 cents, a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope, and ask for The Health Letter number 1-3, Diet Preventing Atherosclerosis.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I don't have too big a problem, but would like some information. My hair stops growing after a while and doesn't get very long. I would like to know if there's some way to stimulate hair to make it grow.

DEAR READER — Contrary to some overly enthusiastic advertisement, there is absolutely no way to stimulate hair to grow where you want it to. That is why a number of people have turned to hair transplants. If a treatment were available that caused hair to grow successfully, it would have been used.

There are some interesting experimental projects using hormones to stimulate hair follicles, but that is about it.

Your hair is like an evergreen tree, and some hair is lost constantly while new hair is growing. The cycle and other characteristics (some inherited) control the length of your hair. Obviously a slow-growing hair with a short life span won't get too long.

You can correct some medical problems that are associated with falling hair. Women sometimes have this problem after pregnancy, but it is temporary. You can also help your hair by not working it over with beauty aids or severe types of hair styles. Anything that pulls and keeps the hair under tension increases the likelihood of losing hair. Some individuals do not tolerate repeated hair coloring using hydrogen peroxide in the process, and find that when they stop using these their hair improves.

Other than these minor points most of the factors that deal with hair are inherited or, rarely, related to hormone function.

What's the law?

Case of the contract winner

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Dugan and O'Reilly sold tickets on the Irish Sweepstakes and for each 20 tickets sold, they were each given two free ducates for themselves for themselves. Not satisfied with their individual odds, Dugan and O'Reilly agreed to double their chances of winning by agreeing to split the pot if either of them hit a lucky ticket.

And while the two men shook hands on their deal, when Dugan came up a big winner, it was O'Reilly who he tried to shake when the latter demanded his one-half take.

Intent upon collecting his share of the winnings, O'Reilly took his claim to court.

"Like the 'S' in the dollar sign," he told the judge, "I've been double-crossed. And, Dugan shouldn't be allowed to get away with it."

"I'm not double-crossing anybody", was Dugan's answer. "I'm just a law abiding citizen. And, since lotteries and selling lottery tickets in this state is against the law, I'd be breaking the law if I gave O'Reilly a single penny of my Sweepstake winnings. What's more, this court can't force me to do it either since it would be enforcing an agreement that's based upon an illegal lottery. It would be against public policy."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you require law-abiding Dugan to share his winnings with O'Reilly?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that O'Reilly's lawsuit wasn't brought to collect lottery winnings. On the contrary, it was brought to enforce a contract between Dugan and O'Reilly, based upon an exchange of promises, which was itself not illegal. An agreement to share the possible proceeds of an Irish Sweepstakes ticket, noted the judge, is not an essential part of the sale and distribution of such tickets so as to bar the enforcement of the agreement as being against the public policy of the state.

Conservation-education trip to India planned

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The National Wildlife Federation and the National Audubon Society will co-sponsor a conservation education trip to Indian -- land of the Bengal tiger and one-horned rhinoceros -- from Feb. 6 to Feb. 29, 1976.

The 24-day tour will offer participants the opportunity to observe and photograph Indian wildlife. Top Indian wildlife experts and biologists will accompany the NWF-NAS travel party on visits to the country's largest wildlife refuges and parks.

Highlighting the non-hunting journey will be a special two-day conference at the Bharatpur Bird Sanctuary, which has been called the world's finest waterbird sanctuary. Dr. S. Dillon Ripley, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, and Salim Ali, India's foremost ornithologist, will be guest speakers.

Details on the trip may be obtained by writing: Conservation Travel, Dept. LR, National Wildlife Federation, 1412 16th St. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

SeMo dinner theatre scheduled Oct. 22-25

CAPE GIRARDEAU — A play written by Woody Allen is always extraordinary in one way or another. Combine "Play It Again, Sam", one of Allen's funniest, with an equally extraordinary dinner, and you have all the makings of the Center Theatre, a new concept in entertainment coming this week to Southeast Missouri State University.

The Woody Allen comedy will be presented Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday following a 7 p.m. dinner each evening.

The dinner theatre will take place in the University Center ballroom. Reservations for the 300 available seats are now being taken at the center's information booth.

Tickets are available for individuals or at a reduced price for groups of 15 or more. All seats must be reserved.

Center Theatre was jointly initiated by Dick Frye, director of the University Center, and Dr. Larry Grisvard, director of theater of the speech department. If the inaugural dinner theater is successful, Center Theatre may be continued with perhaps one production scheduled per semester.

"Play It Again, Sam" is being directed by John Wainscott of Ste. Genevieve. Although the Center Theatre is not officially linked with any student organization, Wainsocott said virtually all aspects of the show are being handled by students. Most of the players are "theater people" whose names and faces should be familiar to regular theater-goers.

The madcap plot of the comedy centers around the life of a neurotic movie reviewer, Allan Felix, who is protrayed by Tom Utz of St. Louis.

Out of sheer boredom, Felix's wife, played by Nancy Ryan Barnes of St. Louis, leaves him, causing him to conjure Humphrey Bogart, played by Byran Moss of Ballwin as chief romantic adviser.

The movie critic's well-meaning friends, Dick and Linda Christie, portrayed by Steve Little of Arnold and Virginia Fowlkes of Charleston, fix Felix up with several hilarious blind dates, played by Laura Mitchell of Lilbourn and Dana Wood of West Plains.

Taking a tip from Bogey, Felix finds himself having an affair with Mrs. Christie in a comic version of the "eternal triangle."

Mr. and Mrs. Ottis D. Mays and family arrived Thursday from Spokane, Wash., where he recently received his discharge from the Air Coprs and will make their home at Lilbourn, Route 1.

The Sikeston Bulldogs journeyed to East Prairie last night and came home with an unimpressive 27-0 victory to their credit.

Other scores were: Kennett 24, Jackson 13; and Hayti 20, Dexter 14.

Dr. Lamb

No cholesterol in nuts

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — What is the cause of cholesterol in one's system? I understand that it comes from fatty acids in animal fats, butter, nuts, etc., but I wonder why some people have high cholesterol levels and others don't although each are on similar diets.

My cholesterol level is 343, and my physician has me on a diet and tells me the level shouldn't be over 250 at the most. I'm 58, male, in good health, no heart attacks, no high blood pressure. Will appreciate some help.

DEAR READER — Cholesterol is only an animal product. I keep getting letters asking about it being in nuts. It is not. The rub is that excess fat in the diet, particularly saturated fat found in animal fat, stimulates the liver to form increased amounts of cholesterol. Excess calories may do the same thing.

Your doctor is right to put you on a diet. It may help lower your cholesterol level, and it should be lowered.

Cholesterol is formed chiefly by the liver. The liver acts in many ways as a regulator of blood cholesterol. In some people with certain inherited characteristics the liver tends to form more cholesterol, even if the person is skinny and on a good diet. In other persons, even when obese, the liver seems not to form so much cholesterol. This may be a genetic factor, just as diabetes can be.

The cholesterol in your blood really comes from two sources, that manufactured by your own body, chiefly in the liver, and that absorbed in your food. Only a few foods are really high in cholesterol. Chief among these are the egg yolk and organ meats, particularly brains.

If you want more information on foods and diet to control cholesterol, write to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Send 50 cents, a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope, and ask for The Health Letter number 1-3, Diet Preventing Atherosclerosis.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I don't have too big a problem, but would like some information. My hair stops growing after a while and doesn't get very long. I would like to know if there's some way to stimulate hair to make it grow.

DEAR READER — Contrary to some overly enthusiastic advertisement, there is absolutely no way to stimulate hair to grow where you want it to. That is why a number of people have turned to hair transplants. If a treatment were available that caused hair to grow successfully, it would have been used.

There are some interesting experimental projects using hormones to stimulate hair follicles, but that is about it.

Your hair is like an evergreen tree, and some hair is lost constantly while new hair is growing. The cycle and other characteristics (some inherited) control the length of your hair. Obviously a slow-growing hair with a short life span won't get too long.

You can correct some medical problems that are associated with falling hair. Women sometimes have this problem after pregnancy, but it is temporary. You can also help your hair by not working it over with beauty aids or severe types of hair styles. Anything that pulls and keeps the hair under tension increases the likelihood of losing hair. Some individuals do not tolerate repeated hair coloring using hydrogen peroxide in the process, and find that when they stop using these their hair improves.

Other than these minor points most of the factors that deal with hair are inherited or, rarely, related to hormone function.

What's the law?

Case of the contract winner

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Dugan and O'Reilly sold tickets on the Irish Sweepstakes and for each 20 tickets sold, they were each given two free ducates for themselves for themselves. Not satisfied with their individual odds, Dugan and O'Reilly agreed to double their chances of winning by agreeing to split the pot if either of them hit a lucky ticket.

And while the two men shook hands on their deal, when Dugan came up a big winner, it was O'Reilly who he tried to shake when the latter demanded his one-half take.

Intent upon collecting his share of the winnings, O'Reilly took his claim to court.

"Like the 'S' in the dollar sign," he told the judge, "I've been double-crossed. And, Dugan shouldn't be allowed to get away with it."

"I'm not double-crossing anybody", was Dugan's answer. "I'm just a law abiding citizen. And, since lotteries and selling lottery tickets in this state is against the law, I'd be breaking the law if I gave O'Reilly a single penny of my Sweepstake winnings. What's more, this court can't force me to do it either since it would be enforcing an agreement that's based upon an illegal lottery. It would be against public policy."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you require law-abiding Dugan to share his winnings with O'Reilly?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that O'Reilly's lawsuit wasn't brought to collect lottery winnings. On the contrary, it was brought to enforce a contract between Dugan and O'Reilly, based upon an exchange of promises, which was itself not illegal. An agreement to share the possible proceeds of an Irish Sweepstakes ticket, noted the judge, is not an essential part of the sale and distribution of such tickets so as to bar the enforcement of the agreement as being against the public policy of the state.

Today in U.S. History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, Oct. 21, the 294th day of 1975. There are 71 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1805, an English fleet under Lord Nelson defeatd French and Spanish fleets off Spain's Cape of Trafalgar, ending Napoleon's power on the seas.

On this date:

In 1797, the U.S. frigate Constitution, known as Old Ironsides, was launched at Boston.

In 1879, Thomas Edison invented a workable electric lamp at his laboratory in Menlo Park, N.J.

In 1938, the Japanese captured the Chinese city of Canton.

In 1944, the first large German city to fall to the Allies in World War II, Aachen, was captured by U.S. troops.

In 1945, women voted for the first time in France.

In 1967, thousands of demonstrators against the Vietnam War stormed the Pentagon in Washington, and at least 250 were arrested.

Ten years ago: President Lyndon Johnson returned to the White House from Bethesda Naval Hospital, 13 days after an operation for removal of his gall bladder.

Five years ago: The Nobel Peace Prize was awarded to Norman Borlaug, the American scientist who launched the so-called "Green Revolution" to help feed the world's poor.

One year ago: President Ford and President Luis Echeverria of Mexico met at the Mexico-Arizona border and discussed, among other things, the problem of illegal Mexican immigrants.

SPRINGFIELD--Eleven students from Scott County are enrolled for fall semester classes at Southwest Missouri State University here.

Figures released by the University's admissions office show that enrollment from Scott County last year was 14.

This fall's enrollment at Southwest Missouri State is 12,112, including 11,722 on the Springfield campus and 390 at the West Plains Residence Center. Total SMSU enrollment is up 12.2 per cent.

Malone & Hyde, Inc. plan purchase of assets used by Hill Bros.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — J. R. Hyde III, president of Malone & Hyde, Inc. and E. H. Hill Jr., president of Hill Bros., Inc. of Miami, Fla., have jointly announced an agreement in principal pursuant to the terms of which Malone & Hyde, Inc. will purchase, for an undisclosed price, certain assets used by Hill Bros. in its wholesale food distribution business in the south Florida area. The agreement is subject to approval by the board of directors of both companies and the Federal Trade Commission.

Hyde stated that the acquisition of the wholesale food distribution business of Hill Bros. will allow Malone & Hyde to enter the south Florida market with its voluntary program to support and develop strong and active independent food retailers to compete more aggressively with the chain stores in the area.

Malone & Hyde currently supplies over 2,000 independent food retailers in its trade area of 15 states. As of June, the 1975 fiscal year end, Malone & Hyde reported sales of $887 million and Hill Bros. reported sales of $95 million in wholesale food during its last fiscal year. If this agreement is approved the combined sales for the next fiscal year of Malone & Hyde should be in excess of $1 billion.

Hill indicated that Hill Bros. expects to use the proceeds of the sale to expand its Shell's City Retail Liquor Division and its Miller Associates and Tesco Chemicals water equipment and chemical operations. He noted that the plans of Malone & Hyde for the expansion of the wholesale food business in Florida will result in greater opportunities for employes in the food operations.

State's fiscal committee for New York City approves austerity plan

NEW YORK (AP) — The state's fiscal watchdog committee for deficit-ridden New York City has approved an austerity plan that will cut the city's budget by $724 million over the next three years and slash thousands more municipal workers from the payroll.

Gov. Hugh L. Carey, head of the Emergency Financial Control Board, startled other board members Monday night when he told a meeting of the City Club that 55,000 jobs would be eliminated by 1978.

However, Kenneth Axelson, deputy mayor for finance, explained, "My understanding of the governor's remarks is that he was talking about the equivalent number of jobs represented by the $724 million."

Except to say that they would "number in the thousands," Axelson refused to put a figure on this newest round of firings. However, he said, "We hope to wipe out a good portion of the deficit through attrition and the elimination of nonpersonnel items."

The austerity plan, which basically followed the budget-cutting proposals of Mayor Abraham D. Beame, includes a three-year freeze on wages and hiring, large-scale service cuts and an end to new municipal construction.

The Control Board said it was cutting $390 million from the separate capital budget, used to finance construction projects, by 1978.

This year's savings on the $12 billion 1975-76 expense budget were targeted at $200 million.

The budget plan was mandated by the state to rid the city of its deficit and to restore investor confidence in the city's now-shaky credit rating. The city came within hours of default last Friday.

In Washington, Beame pushed his plea for federal help by telling Congress that since Jan. 1 he has cut the city's work force by 31,000 jobs to 263,311.

Corp to hold public meeting on permit plan

The Memphis District of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers will conduct an informal public meeting at 7 p.m. today in the Sikeston National Guard Armory, 300 S. Main St. on the corps' general regulatory permit program.

The corps is sponsoring a series of public information meetings in Tennessee, Arkansas and Missouri on the p ermit program for activities, including discharge of dredged or fill material, in navigable waters at locations in the three states.

The corps traditionally has issued permits under Section 10 of the River and Harbor Act of 1899, and more recently, Section 404 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act, limiting permit jurisdiction under both to the navigable waters of the United States.

However, this limitation under Section 404 was successfully challenged in the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia, and the court directed the corps to extend its responsibility for regulation of the discharge of dredged or fill material to all waters in the United States.

Anyone may comment on the policy at the meeting and all questions will be discussed.

Farm field work ahead of normal

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) Five days were suitable for field work across Missouri last week, pushing fall work ahead of normal, according to the Missouri Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Soybean harvesting was about five days ahead of normal, while corn and grain sorghum harvesting was three to four weeks ahead of normal, the service said. Soil moisture throughout the state was reported adequate.

The corn harvest was well ahead of normal, with 67 per cent of the crop havested, compared with 41 per cent last year and 39 per cent for the five-year average.

Soybeans were mature on 83 per cent of the state's acreage, ahead of last year's 62 per cent. The harvest increased 22 points last week and is now 47 per cent finished, compared with 23 per cent last year and an average of 33 per cent.

Grain sorghum is 71 per cent harvested, compared with 35 per cent last year and a five-year average of 41 per cent.

The cotton harvest increased 24 points last week and is now 54 per cent completed, compared with 25 per cent at this time last year and an average of 34 per cent.

Plowing for spring-planted crops is 25 per cent complete.

Public Notices

NOTICE OF FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT EFFECT ON THE ENVIRONMENT

This notice relates to the Housing Assistance Plan proposed as part of the Community Development Block Grant Program authorized as part of the Community Development Act of 1974.

A finding has been made that the proposed Housing Assistance Plan would have no significant effect on the environment. The reasons for this decision are as follows:

The rehabilitation of certain structures eliminate certain blighting influences and incompatible land uses. Further a finding has been made that the Sikeston Housing Assistance Plan will not have any significant impact on any historical or archeological sites as determined by the Historical and Archeological Preservation Act of 1966.

An Environmental Review Record has made and is on file at the office of the City Clerk, 215 North New Madrid Street, Sikeston, Missouri. The Environmental Review Record may be examined or copied at the above address between the hours of 8:00 A.M. and 12:00 Noon and 1:00 P.M. and 5:00 P.M. Monday through Friday.

No further environmental review of this project is proposed to be conducted, and a request is being made to the Department of Housing and Urban Development to release funds for the project.

Comments may be submitted to the City of Sikeston, Administration Building, Sikeston, Missouri until November 11, 1975.

Eleven students from Scott Co. enrolled SwMo

SPRINGFIELD--Eleven students from Scott County are enrolled for fall semester classes at Southwest Missouri State University here.

Figures released by the University's admissions office show that enrollment from Scott County last year was 14.

This fall's enrollment at Southwest Missouri State is 12,112, including 11,722 on the Springfield campus and 390 at the West Plains Residence Center. Total SMSU enrollment is up 12.2 per cent.

Malone & Hyde, Inc. plan purchase of assets used by Hill Bros.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — J. R. Hyde III, president of Malone & Hyde, Inc. and E. H. Hill Jr., president of Hill Bros., Inc. of Miami, Fla., have jointly announced an agreement in principal pursuant to the terms of which Malone & Hyde, Inc. will purchase, for an undisclosed price, certain assets used by Hill Bros. in its wholesale food distribution business in the south Florida area. The agreement is subject to approval by the board of directors of both companies and the Federal Trade Commission.

Hyde stated that the acquisition of the wholesale food distribution business of Hill Bros. will allow Malone & Hyde to enter the south Florida market with its voluntary program to support and develop strong and active independent food retailers to compete more aggressively with the chain stores in the area.

Malone & Hyde currently supplies over 2,000 independent food retailers in its trade area of 15 states. As of June, the 1975 fiscal year end, Malone & Hyde reported sales of $887 million and Hill Bros. reported sales of $95 million in wholesale food during its last fiscal year. If this agreement is approved the combined sales for the next fiscal year of Malone & Hyde should be in excess of $1 billion.

Hill indicated that Hill Bros. expects to use the proceeds of the sale to expand its Shell's City Retail Liquor Division and its Miller Associates and Tesco Chemicals water equipment and chemical operations. He noted that the plans of Malone & Hyde for the expansion of the wholesale food business in Florida will result in greater opportunities for employes in the food operations.

State's fiscal committee for New York City approves austerity plan

NEW YORK (AP) — The state's fiscal watchdog committee for deficit-ridden New York City has approved an austerity plan that will cut the city's budget by $724 million over the next three years and slash thousands more municipal workers from the payroll.

Gov. Hugh L. Carey, head of the Emergency Financial Control Board, startled other board members Monday night when he told a meeting of the City Club that 55,000 jobs would be eliminated by 1978.

However, Kenneth Axelson, deputy mayor for finance, explained, "My understanding of the governor's remarks is that he was talking about the equivalent number of jobs represented by the $724 million."

Except to say that they would "number in the thousands," Axelson refused to put a figure on this newest round of firings. However, he said, "We hope to wipe out a good portion of the deficit through attrition and the elimination of nonpersonnel items."

The austerity plan, which basically followed the budget-cutting proposals of Mayor Abraham D. Beame, includes a three-year freeze on wages and hiring, large-scale service cuts and an end to new municipal construction.

The Control Board said it was cutting $390 million from the separate capital budget, used to finance construction projects, by 1978.

This year's savings on the $12 billion 1975-76 expense budget were targeted at $200 million.

The budget plan was mandated by the state to rid the city of its deficit and to restore investor confidence in the city's now-shaky credit rating. The city came within hours of default last Friday.

In Washington, Beame pushed his plea for federal help by telling Congress that since Jan. 1 he has cut the city's work force by 31,000 jobs to 263,311.

Corp to hold public meeting on permit plan

The Memphis District of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers will conduct an informal public meeting at 7 p.m. today in the Sikeston National Guard Armory, 300 S. Main St. on the corps' general regulatory permit program.

The corps is sponsoring a series of public information meetings in Tennessee, Arkansas and Missouri on the p ermit program for activities, including discharge of dredged or fill material, in navigable waters at locations in the three states.

The corps traditionally has issued permits under Section 10 of the River and Harbor Act of 1899, and more recently, Section 404 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act, limiting permit jurisdiction under both to the navigable waters of the United States.

However, this limitation under Section 404 was successfully challenged in the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia, and the court directed the corps to extend its responsibility for regulation of the discharge of dredged or fill material to all waters in the United States.

Anyone may comment on the policy at the meeting and all questions will be discussed.

Farm field work ahead of normal

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) Five days were suitable for field work across Missouri last week, pushing fall work ahead of normal, according to the Missouri Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Soybean harvesting was about five days ahead of normal, while corn and grain sorghum harvesting was three to four weeks ahead of normal, the service said. Soil moisture throughout the state was reported adequate.

The corn harvest was well ahead of normal, with 67 per cent of the crop havested, compared with 41 per cent last year and 39 per cent for the five-year average.

Soybeans were mature on 83 per cent of the state's acreage, ahead of last year's 62 per cent. The harvest increased 22 points last week and is now 47 per cent finished, compared with 23 per cent last year and an average of 33 per cent.

Grain sorghum is 71 per cent harvested, compared with 35 per cent last year and a five-year average of 41 per cent.

The cotton harvest increased 24 points last week and is now 54 per cent completed, compared with 25 per cent at this time last year and an average of 34 per cent.

Plowing for spring-planted crops is 25 per cent complete.

Public Notices

NOTICE OF FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT EFFECT ON THE ENVIRONMENT

This notice relates to the Housing Assistance Plan proposed as part of the Community Development Block Grant Program authorized as part of the Community Development Act of 1974.

A finding has been made that the proposed Housing Assistance Plan would have no significant effect on the environment. The reasons for this decision are as follows:

The rehabilitation of certain structures eliminate certain blighting influences and incompatible land uses. Further a finding has been made that the Sikeston Housing Assistance Plan will not have any significant impact on any historical or archeological sites as determined by the Historical and Archeological Preservation Act of 1966.

An Environmental Review Record has made and is on file at the office of the City Clerk, 215 North New Madrid Street, Sikeston, Missouri. The Environmental Review Record may be examined or copied at the above address between the hours of 8:00 A.M. and 12:00 Noon and 1:00 P.M. and 5:00 P.M. Monday through Friday.

No further environmental review of this project is proposed to be conducted, and a request is being made to the Department of Housing and Urban Development to release funds for the project.

Comments may be submitted to the City of Sikeston, Administration Building, Sikeston, Missouri until November 11, 1975.

2. Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere gratitude for all the kindnesses and courtesies extended to us at the passing of our beloved one Fred Burns, and to thank those who assisted at the services, those who sent flowers and spiritual bouquets and donations. Also our wonderful friends and neighbors for bringing food. We appreciae the kindnesses of the Home Health Care Offie in Sikeston, the Scott County Health Office in Benton, the Cape County Cancer Society in Cape and the kindness and understanding help from the North Scott County Ambulance Service. We appreciate the kindness of the staff of the Amick-Burnett Funeral Home, the Rev. Earl Statler, Soloist Doris Alden, and the pallbearers. The family of Fred Burns.

Our loved one was called away
and we miss him more each day.

While he was here he knew he was loved
now he is with God above.

He and Mother walked sided by side
through life's road, both narrow and wide.

For thirty eight years they were
Husband and wife

Sometimes it was hard
but they had a good life

Now all we have is his memories
If only his face again we could see.

God only loaned him to us for a little while
Then he called him home.
Because he was his child.

But we do hope to see him someday soon,
whether it be morning, night or noon.

We will meet him in the sky
and we'll all be together in our home
on high.

In memory of our loving husband and father.

2. Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere gratitude for all the kindnesses and courtesies extended to us at the passing of our beloved one Fred Burns, and to thank those who assisted at the services, those who sent flowers and spiritual bouquets and donations. Also our wonderful friends and neighbors for bringing food. We appreciae the kindnesses of the Home Health Care Offie in Sikeston, the Scott County Health Office in Benton, the Cape County Cancer Society in Cape and the kindness and understanding help from the North Scott County Ambulance Service. We appreciate the kindness of the staff of the Amick-Burnett Funeral Home, the Rev. Earl Statler, Soloist Doris Alden, and the pallbearers. The family of Fred Burns.

Our loved one was called away
and we miss him more each day.

While he was here he knew he was loved
now he is with God above.

He and Mother walked sided by side
through life's road, both narrow and wide.

For thirty eight years they were Husband and wife

Sometimes it was hard
but they had a good life

Now all we have is his memories
If only his face again we could see.

God only loaned him to us for a little while
Then he called him home.
Because he was his child.

But we do hope to see him someday soon,
whether it be morning, night or noon.

We will meet him in the sky
and we'll all be together in our home
on high.

In memory of our loving husband and father.

Heartsill (Red) Newton who passed away Oct. 25, 1974

An ordinance was passed forbidding the burning of leaves on asphalt roads.

The reasoning behind the ordinance is that a hot leaf fire will ruin the pavement.

Alderman Doren Vancil suggested the city install a night depository at City Hall for paying water bills.

Vancil told the council he had asked three companies for an estimate, with the lowest being $825. Laboer will run about $100.

The Mayor and council seemed in favor, but took no action.

At the recommendation of alderman Jack Smarr, the council decided to advertise for bids on insurance for the city.

The council also approved the issuing of the first part of $1.2 million dollars worth of industrial bonds for expansion of Monarch Feed Inc., which were approved by voters Aug. 5.

In other action the council bought a civil defense siren for $1,543 and renewed a license for the Playboy Lounge and Cafe.

Bradley Harlan Gilmer, 9, of Matthews as seriously injured in a motorcycle-truck accident at 12:55 p.m. Sunday one mile east of Canalou on a private driveway.

The accident occurred when Lloyd Allen Knuckles, 32, of Sikeston was driving a pickup northbound on a private driveway and his view was obstructed by a pile of lime as the Gilmer boy came from behind the lime on an eastound motorcycle, which was struck by the truck.

The boy was taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

Two young East Prairie women were seriously injured at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in a one-car accident seven miles east of East Prairie on Highway 80.

The accident occurred when a westbound car driven by Nancy Ann Bell, 24, of East Prairie ran off the road and overturned in a field.

The Bell woman and a passenger, Eva M. Vines, 18, of East Prairie, suffered injuries and were taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Joyce Wanda Woodard, 24, of Bloomfield received minor injuries in a one-car accident at 11:55 p.m. Saturday at the junction of Highways 25 and 91, five miles south of Advance.

The accident occurred when she drove her car in a westerly direction from the driveway of Hilltop Tavern across the highway into a ditch and hit a tree and fencepost.

She was taken to Dexter Memorial Hospital.

A Sikeston woman received minor injuries in a two-vehicle accident at 4:45 a.m. Sunday seven miles north of Sikeston. The accident occurred when the motor died on a southbound car driven by Lewis Blaine Wiggins, 16, of Sikeston, who stopped with the lights off on the road. The Wiggins car then was struck from behind by a car driven south by Clyde Marvin Russell, 34, of Sikeston.

A passenger in the Russell car, Barbara Russell, 27, wife of the driver, received injuries and was treated at Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Three persons received minor injuries in a two-vehicle accident Monday at 3:25 p.m. one mile east of East Prairie on Highway 102.

The accident occurred when a car driven by Marie Imogene Britt, 42, of East Prairie attempted a left turn into the path of an eastbound bob truck driven by Raymond Glenn Hall, 18, of East Prairie.

Hall and two passengers in the Britt vehicle, Thelma Gertrude Cain, 55, of Charleston and Ealer H. Wallace, 54, of East Prairie, were injured. All three were taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

6 meeting because they were too high.

Church said the ditch was remeasured and found to be one-half mile longer than previous estimated. He said the bids seemed reasonable with the extra distance included.

The city had originally estimated the cost of the ditch cleaning to be about $8,000.

Sign bids

The city received seven bids from sign companies for new traffic signs for the city under the Missouri Highway Safety Resigning Program which pays 90 per cent of the cost of the signs.

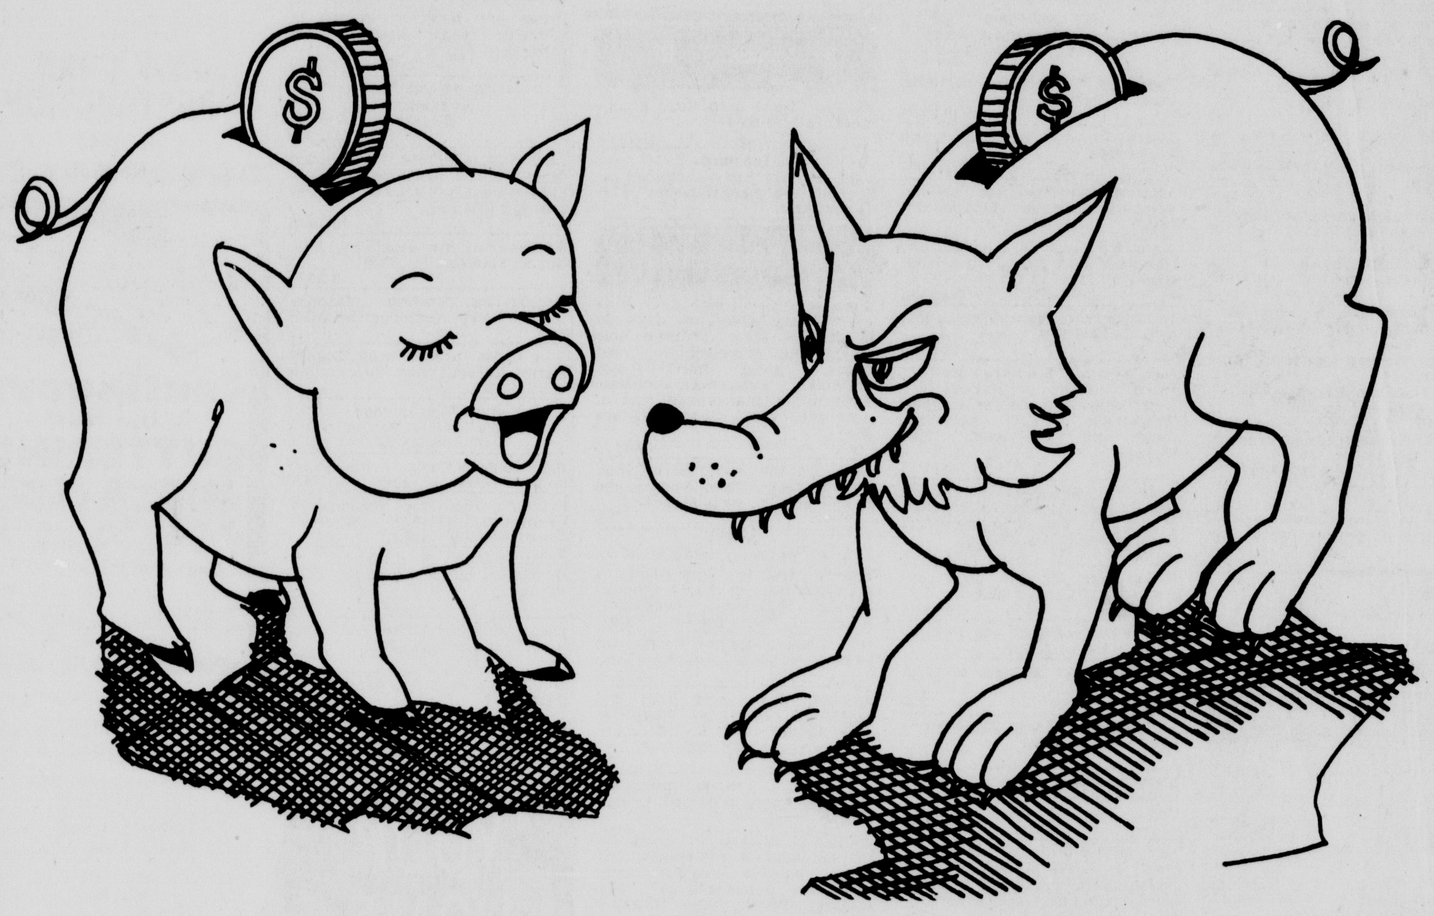

The bid was awarded to Vulcan Sign Co. of Foley, Ala., the low bidder at $6,585.44. The bid is $1,700 less than the city had budgeted, Church said.

Delivery is expected to take 75 days, and the signs will be installed during the winter.

Too Ripe

Oranges bearing a greenish tinge are the ripest fruit of all. The fruit is greenish because of a phenomenon known as "regreening." As the fruit hangs on the tree in warm weather, chlorophyl returns to the skin. Oranges are never picked until fully ripe.

The boy was taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

Two young East Prairie women were seriously injured at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in a one-car accident seven miles east of East Prairie on Highway 80.

The accident occurred when a westbound car driven by Nancy Ann Bell, 24, of East Prairie ran off the road and overturned in a field.

The Bell woman and a passenger, Eva M. Vines, 18, of East Prairie, suffered injuries and were taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Joyce Wanda Woodard, 24, of Bloomfield received minor injuries in a one-car accident at 11:55 p.m. Saturday at the junction of Highways 25 and 91, five miles south of Advance.

The accident occurred when she drove her car in a westerly direction from the driveway of Hilltop Tavern across the highway into a ditch and hit a tree and fencepost.

She was taken to Dexter Memorial Hospital.

A Sikeston woman received minor injuries in a two-vehicle accident at 4:45 a.m. Sunday seven miles north of Sikeston. The accident occurred when the motor died on a southbound car driven by Lewis Blaine Wiggins, 16, of Sikeston, who stopped with the lights off on the road. The Wiggins car then was struck from behind by a car driven south by Clyde Marvin Russell, 34, of Sikeston.

A passenger in the Russell car, Barbara Russell, 27, wife of the driver, received injuries and was treated at Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Three persons received minor injuries in a two-vehicle accident Monday at 3:25 p.m. one mile east of East Prairie on Highway 102.

The accident occurred when a car driven by Marie Imogene Britt, 42, of East Prairie attempted a left turn into the path of an eastbound bob truck driven by Raymond Glenn Hall, 18, of East Prairie.

Hall and two passengers in the Britt vehicle, Thelma Gertrude Cain, 55, of Charleston and Ealer H. Wallace, 54, of East Prairie, were injured. All three were taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

patriotism.

He said every generation must earn its freedom anew.

Other speakers at the rally included Phillip Barkett Jr., Circuit Court Judge Marshall Craig, and students Kelley Hill, JoAnn Redd, and Delores Sims.

The Sikeston Bicentennial School Band and orchestra performed several numbers and the Sikeston Modern Chorale and the Singing Nauerts of St. Louis provided songs.

6 meeting because they were too high.

Church said the ditch was remeasured and found to be one-half mile longer than previous estimated. He said the bids seemed reasonable with the extra distance included.

The city had originally estimated the cost of the ditch cleaning to be about $8,000.

Sign bids

The city received seven bids from sign companies for new traffic signs for the city under the Missouri Highway Safety Resigning Program which pays 90 per cent of the cost of the signs.

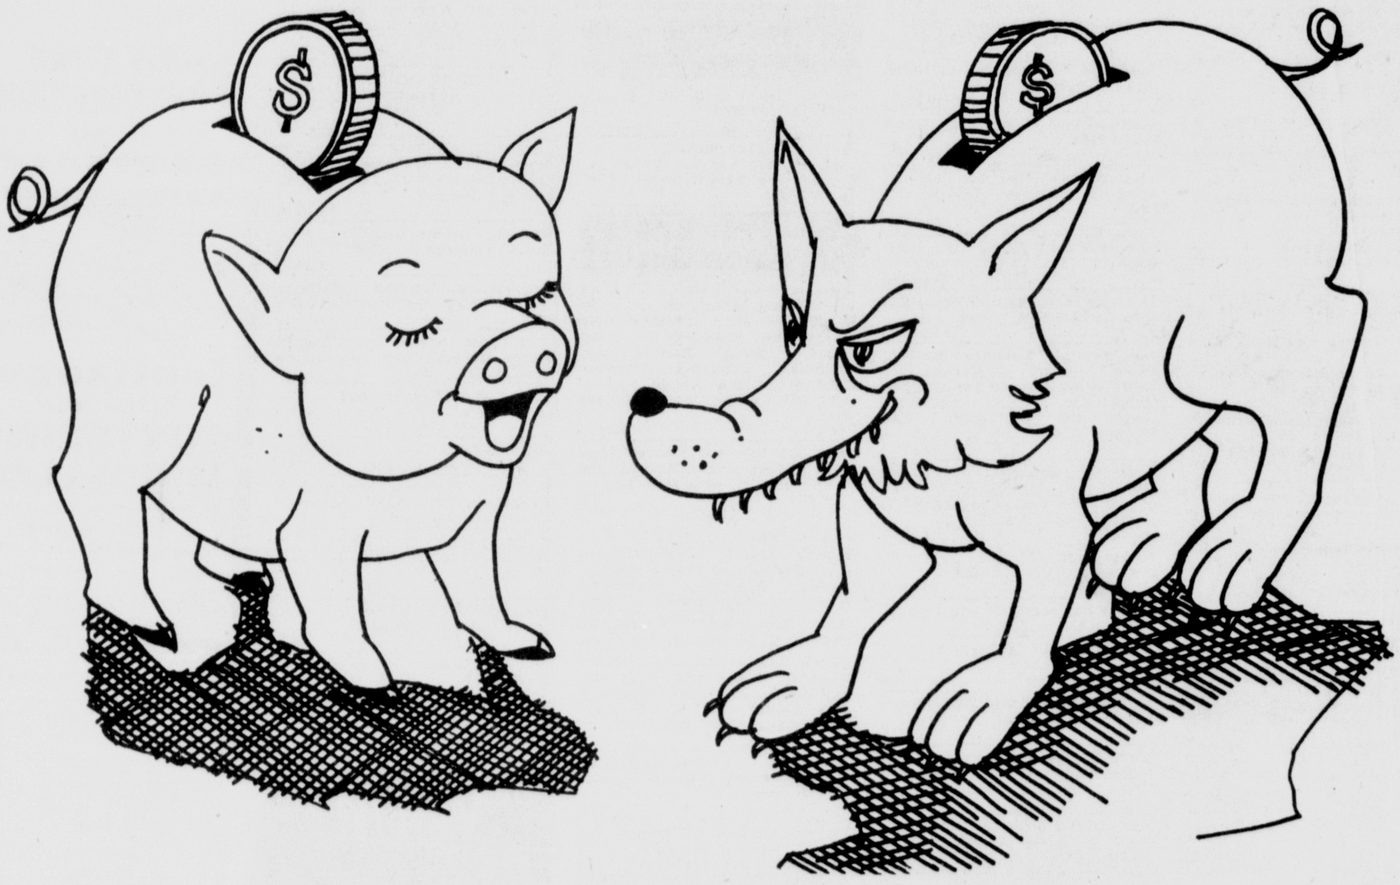

The bid was awarded to Vulcan Sign Co. of Foley, Ala., the low bidder at $6,585.44. The bid is $1,700 less than the city had budgeted, Church said.

Delivery is expected to take 75 days, and the signs will be installed during the winter.

Too Ripe

Oranges bearing a greenish tinge are the ripest fruit of all. The fruit is greenish because of a phenomenon known as "regreening." As the fruit hangs on the tree in warm weather, chlorophyl returns to the skin. Oranges are never picked until fully ripe.

Introducing "Lady" the electronic calculator that recognizes there's a difference between men and women.

Chic and eye-catching in ruby red and gold tone, Litton/Adler's "Lady" calculator is a daring departure from drab black and white, conventional looking calculators. Though it's tinier than a regular size pack of cigarettes, the "Lady" is a full-featured, 8-digit unit that adds, subtracts, multiplies, divides and performs chain and reciprocal calculations as well as percent and add-on discount. And it's ideal for check book balancing, preparing tax returns, supermarket shopping. Attractively packaged with matching kid-soft red leather carrying pouch, "Lady" is the perfect gift for all occasions. Battery operation.
